MOVE TO IMPEACH FALL'S SON-IN-LAW

Plenty of Cheap Money
It's the Citizen's Fault
Big American Figures
High Tariff, or Bread Line?

Current Events

YOU COULD borrow all the money at three per cent. you wanted yesterday, to gamble in stocks. It cost you five and a half per cent. if you wanted it to build a factory. That, as Mark Twain said of Wagner's music, "is not quite as bad as it sounds." The great thing is to have money when you want it.

WASHINGTON news is not pleasant. One set of officials rob their government treasonably, taking bribes in exchange for the navy's oil reserves.

Another set, in cowardly fashion, robs wounded soldiers through graft in the Veterans' Bureau.

Another set organizes bribery and blackmail, through the Internal Revenue Department, with the help of the prohibition laws.

EARNEST cartoonists show the haughty American citizen, deeply depressed, highly indignant.

Let that citizen ask himself how much interest he has taken in public affairs. He ought to know that the citizens get the government that they deserve, and as much grafting and dishonesty as they permit.

AMERICAN enterprises run into big figures. United States Steel reports for 1923 a business gain of five hundred million dollars over 1922.

Ninety million dollars were spent for permanent improvement, and even after that, net profits increased more than sixty-five millions.

The total business was more than a billion and a half, and profit $16.43 a share on common stock that Andrew Carnegie said was only gas, because it wasn't even water.

These gigantic profits are shown despite the fact that the company has changed from a twelve to an eight-hour day, employing in consequence seventeen thousand more men.

Moral: This country is rich enough to treat workmen generously.

NOBLE WOMEN propose to expose by terrible examples our dreadful high tariff. They will go through the country exhibiting clothing and other things, placarded to show the tariff cost.

Such an exhibition all by itself is not exactly fair. The ladies should also take with them photographs of old bread lines, common in this country when jobs were scarce and wages low.

High tariff, high prices, everybody making high wages, is better than low tariff, low prices, and a first-class bread line in each important city.

You can't have everything.

NEAR Los Angeles they found a skull older than the Neanderthal or Piltdown man. Found in glacial sands below the Pleistocene clay, this old American probably lived five hundred thousand years ago. Los Angeles real estate dealers weep to think of the bargains he might have picked up.

Yet, had he bought the whole of California 500,000 years ago for $1, his ancestors wouldn't be as rich today as they would be if he had taken and put it in a good, safe bank at compound interest. Don't despise the little savings bank account, or the power of compound interest.

ANDERSON, 'DRY,' OFF TO SING SING

Anti-Saloon Leader Numbered and Finger-Printed Before Heading for Prison

Yonkers, N. Y., March 25.—William H. Anderson, convicted former State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, left his home today to go to the Tombs in New York city and surrender to the authorities.

There he will be committed to Sing Sing, to which he was sentenced for a term of from one to two years after his conviction on a charge of having falsified the books of the Anti-Saloon League.

Anderson gave the Sheriff a typewritten paper, reading:

"A soldier who volunteers to enter the opposition lines and blow up the enemy's fortifications runs supreme risk.

"I blew up the liquor fortifications of all America by getting enough more New York votes in Congress to send the Eighteenth Amendment to the States for their ratification and by bringing about ratification by New York.

VICTIM OF ENEMIES.

"To do it I took risks, that, judged by safety-first standards, were errors of judgment or blunders on my part, even though the Anti-Saloon League received all the benefits of every aspect of all transactions and the dry cause was, in fact, tremendously benefited.

"But I would rather have accomplished this much for humanity by such errors of judgment with their present cost to me than to have a record free of blunders but equally barren of achievement.

"I am by fair analogy a prisoner of war in the hands of the enemy. In this moral warfare, however, while I am helpless, muzzled and unable to defend my good name every effort is being made to blacken my character."

As he handed the statement out Anderson's hands trembled visibly. The composure which characterized his entrance left him entirely as he started to march down the densely packed hallway with deputies on each side of him.

FINGER PRINTS TAKEN.

The flash powder of the photographers caused him to start and a second flash produced an explosion of wrath as he turned and asked the deputies to hurry along.

At police headquarters before starting for Sing Sing Anderson took his place in line with a number of criminals, disregarding a large crowd of attendants and newspapermen, and looking neither to the right nor the left of him.

Given Rogues Gallery No. 59768, photographed and finger-printed with the others in line, Anderson, in a firm voice, gave his occupation as superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, his age as forty and his birthplace as Illinois. His measurements were: Weight 220½ pounds; height, six feet two and three-quarters inches.

Little Miss Farrell, Stenographer, Chases Pickpocket Into Arms of Policeman

Diminutive Helen Farrell, South Boston stenographer, employed by the Whittemore Shoe Polish Co., Cambridge, aroused when her pocket was picked, trailed Philip Viola of Henry street, East Boston, right into the arms of a policeman.

Viola in municipal court today, was sentenced by Judge Duff to three months in the House of Correction for picking Miss Farrell's pocket in a Cambridge subway train.

Miss Farrell lives at No. 42 West Sixth street, South Boston. She is five feet tall, weighs 100 pounds and is pretty. So when a man jostled her in a tunnel train she thought he was merely "fresh" and moved away. After she had seen him leave the train hurriedly at the South Station, however, she discovered that her purse, containing $1.50 and a key, was gone.

The next morning she waited in the tunnel until she saw the same man, got on the train with him and rode to the South Station where he got off. She got off too, and he saw her and ran.

Up the tunnel stairs to the street the man raced with little Miss Farrell twinkling up after him.

On the street the man made the mistake of racing toward where Patrolman Mark Morrison of the City Hall avenue station was standing. The policeman gathered him in.

SEN. LA FOLLETTE IS ILL WITH COLD

Washington, March 25.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, leader of the Republican Insurgents, is confined to his bed with a severe cold. His office today denied reports that he had undergone a surgical operation. He merely is following the advice of his physician, it is said, for a complete rest.

Don't forget that the Boston American "Inspected-Insured" used car service gives the purchaser fire and theft insurance for a limited time. Look for the certificate.

GOVERNOR PINCHOT IS DRAWN AS JUROR

Harrisburg, Pa., March 25.—Governor Pinchot has been drawn as a Federal Grand Juror at the term of court beginning here May 5. He expects to serve unless the pressure of necessary work for the State requires him to ask to be excused.

Police Probe $25,000 Fire in Roxbury Stable; Flames Menace Tenements

Fifty horses, housed in the livery stable of Herbert Marshall, No. 361 Warren street, Roxbury, were burned to death when the stable was destroyed by fire early today.

Not a single horse escaped. In addition, all wagons, harness and other paraphernalia were destroyed, the loss exceeding $25,000.

The fire, which for a time menaced a number of tenement houses near the stable and drove thirty families to the street, is being investigated by Assistant Fire Chief Daniel Sennott and Police Sergeant Thomas Connelly of the Roxbury station, there being several mysterious aspects.

In the stable at the time the fire started were Daniel Cunningham and Henry Clark, employed as night caretakers.

POLICE PROBING BLAZE.

According to Cunningham, he and Clark were in the office when an early morning caller rapped on the front door. Cunningham went toward the front door, discovered the fire in the stable and called to Clark. The men then ran to a rear door and escaped from the stable, according to Cunningham's story.

The horses in the stable were owned by tradesmen, pedlars and other business people in Roxbury.

Chicago Bandits Get $110,000 in Mail Sack Holdup

Chicago, March 25.—Four bandits held up a postal messenger in Harvey, a suburb, today, and escaped with two sacks of mail reported to contain between $110,000 and $150,000 in currency consigned to manufacturing companies.

The robbers intercepted William Russell, a postoffice clerk, who was carrying the mail sacks from a railroad station to the postoffice. They escaped in an automobile.

COOLIDGE'S LOST CAT IS LOCATED BY RADIO

Washington, March 25.—The radio, often used to locate missing persons and stolen automobiles, was proved today equally effective in finding missing cats.

Stations WCAP of Washington and WEAF of New York Tuesday night "at the request of White House officials" broadcast a notice that Tige, President Coolidge's pet tomcat, had been missing since last week.

Soon after the President reached his office today a navy building guard appeared with the missing feline.

G. STANLEY HALL IS NEAR DEATH AT HIS HOME

Slight Hope for Worcester Educator, Suffering From Nephritis After Pneumonia

Dr. G. S. Hall

Worcester, March 25.—Dr. G. Stanley Hall, first president of Clark University and one of the foremost psychologists in the world, is near death at his home, No. 156 Woodland street. Eminent specialists were in consultation today at Dr. Hall's bedside. Slight hope is expressed for his recovery. He is suffering from nephritis following an attack of pneumonia.

First intimation of Dr. Hall's serious illness came to the faculty and student body of Clark University when he failed to appear at the Founders' Day celebration a few weeks ago.

Dr. Hall was president of the university from the time of its foundation in 1887 until 1920, when he retired. He was chiefly responsible for the rapid growth of the institution.

He is a specialist in child psychology and has written books on the subject which have won world-wide attention.

He was one of the late President Wilson's instructors at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

DAUGHERTY DROPPED $24,000

Transactions in Oil Stock in Joint Account With Jess Smith Show Loss

Washington, March 25.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and his friend, the late Jess W. Smith, lost $24,000 in 1922 in oil stocks, the Senate Oil Committee discovered today in questioning Anderson H. Tackett, a Federal Trade Commission accountant.

Anderson said an investigation of the books of Hibbs & Co., Washington brokers, showed Daugherty and Smith carried a joint account designated as "W. W. Spaid, No. 2," and Daugherty carried a personal account designated "W. W. Spaid, No. 4," and that Smith had a personal account designated as "W. W. Spaid, No. 3."

Daugherty's personal account was closed out on June 1, 1922.

It was in the joint account the $24,000 loss was incurred, Hackett testified.

He found that Smith dealt principally in the stocks of three oil companies, Sinclair Consolidated, Mexican Petroleum and Mexican Seaboard. In the Sinclair stock Smith made a profit of $3,317, in Mexican Petroleum a profit of $556, and lost $172 in Seaboard.

MISSING $32,000

Further inquiry into the financial affairs of Albert B. Fall was also made by the committee today.

M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National Bank of Pueblo, Col., was questioned about Fall's account and afterward Senator Walsh an-

ACCUSED BY WALSH OF PERJURY

Oil Prosecutor Charges Chase, U. S. Official, Tried to Suborn Banker McKinney

Washington, March 25.—A resolution providing for the impeachment of C. C. Chase, collector of customs at El Paso, on charges of conspiracy, introduced today by Senator Walsh of Montana was adopted by the Senate.

Chase is Albert B. Fall's son-in-law. Price McKinney, a Cleveland banker, recently testified that Chase had been sent to him to ask that he "say" Fall had borrowed from him the mysterious $100,000, whose source the oil committee was seeking to ascertain.

Reciting the refusal of Chase to testify before the oil committee, the resolution would bring the situation to the attention of the House "for appropriate action."

"That intends impeachment?" asked Senator Borah.

"Yes," said Senator Walsh.

Senator Walsh asked immediate consideration, but Senator Spencer of Missouri objected, saying that though he is a member of the oil committee, the introduction "is the first I've heard of this resolution."

Senator Bursum of New Mexico also protested, saying that Chase intends to resign. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, replied that no resignation "will be permitted to protect an offending officeholder."

After Senator Walsh had explained the circumstances under which the impeachment move was made, Senator Spencer withdrew his objection. Senator Bursum hownounced that the check-up showed the former Interior Secretary had acquired $32,000 for the purchase of ranch property from a source yet undisclosed.

It previously had been indicated, the Senator said, that the funds might have come from the Thatcher interests.

Thatcher said Fall had been a customer of the bank since 1913 or 1914.

"Did the bank make any loan to him during 1921?" asked Senator Walsh.

"No, sir."

"Or 1922?"

"No, sir."

Thatcher said Fall borrowed $15,000 from the bank in 1916 and paid it in May 1922.

Asked about Fall's statement to the committee that he arranged to get funds from the M. D. Thatcher estate, Thatcher said the Tres Ritas Cattle Company (Fall's company) had done so.

"What do you know about that transaction?" asked Senator Walsh.

$100,000 LOAN

"We made some loans to the Tres Ritas Cattle Company. We loaned them $100,000 and there is an overdraft of about $22,000 which has probably been consolidated into a note.

"It was loaned in separate notes running from $5,000 to $10,000. There may have been some of $15,000. The amounts were drawn until they reached a round figure when a note would be drawn to cover it."

The transactions, the witness said, were "through Mr. Everhart."

"Mr. Everhart told me," said Thatcher, "they were trying to make improvements which would run as high as $200,000. He asked me if I would be able to make a loan. I said yes, if reasonable. The advances have reached $102,000 or $103,000, with interest for the few months passed."

"Anything said about security?"

"I had security. I had the stock of the cattle company."

Thatcher listed the loans. The first was in 1921 and the next was on September 22, 1922.

1923 LOANS

Thatcher said he knew nothing about Fall's purchase of the Harris ranch for $91,500, nor where the money came from.

Senator Walsh wanted to know details about Fall's borrowings from the bank.

"I think until this loan for water power improvements, the maximum was $25,000 a year," said the witness.

Thatcher said he would not have advanced money to purchase new properties. He identified Everhart as Fall's son-in-law and manager of both the Fall ranch and the Thatcher ranch. He is a cousin of Thatcher.

Thatcher listed the other borrowings under the arangement with Everhart as follows:

January 19,1923, $15,000; April 13, $40,000 (probably a consolidation, the witness said); July 9, $15,000; July 27, $10,000; August 16, $5000; October 2, $10,000, and November 9, $10,000.

"You are quite certain all of these were in 1923, that your books are correct?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I am certain of it."

Thatcher explained that all the loans he had listed were made by the M. D. Thatcher Estate Company, and went into the checking account of the cattle company.

His understanding was that the loans were secured by all the property, including the Harris ranch or any other land Fall's company bought.

ONE OTHER LOAN

Senator Walsh checked over the records with the amounts and dates of the loans by the Thatcher company.

Asked whether Fall got any loans in the name of the cattle company, the witness replied:

"Nothing during the period you speak of."

"Was there any other?" asked Senator Adams.

"There was a loan to Fall in January, 1921, of $15,000. That was to cover loans carried over from 1916 or 1917."

"Were there any other records in your bank of people connected with Fall showing any loans?" asked Senator Dill.

"Mr. Everhart had an account."

"Did you loan him through your company?"

"He had an interest with us. He was our manager in Colorado and New Mexico."

"No loans to him in relation to the Fall ranch?"

"Nothing that I know of."

Anderson H. Tackett, an accountant of the Federal Trade Commission, gave the committee more details of the oil stock transactions of Jess W. Smith, confidant of Attorney-General Daugherty.

$24,000 NET LOSS

He said Smith's account, listed as "W. W. Spaid No. Four," was closed out, and a "W. W. Spaid No. 2" account was opened, which he said he had been told at the office of the brokerage firm, W. B. Hibbs & Co., was a joint account of Smith and Daugherty.

Asked as to the net result of the operations of this account, Tackett said it was difficult to say, but that there might have been a total loss of $24,000. This was in 1922.

There was a transaction by Smith of 1,200 shares of Sinclair Consolidated, Tackett said, with a net profit of $3,317. In addition, Smith's account showed a transaction in 100 shares of Mexican Petroleum, with a profit of $556, and a transaction in 800 shares of Mexican Seaboard, with a loss of $172.

Before the committee adjourned until Thursday announcement was made that R. H. Wilson, an Oklahoma political leader, had been subpoenaed for questioning regarding the story of an "oil deal" at the 1920 Republican national convention.

F. W. Sanderson of Minneapolis, an engineer for the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission, also was summoned.

Sinclair Is Formally Cited; Now Awaits Technical Arrest

Washington, March 25.—The formal certification of Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, for contempt of the United States Senate was placed in the hands of the district attorney here today for action.

It was signed by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, acting president of the Senate.

The next step is for the district attorney to place Sinclair under technical arrest, pending presentation of the matter to a Federal Grand Jury here next week.

Neither Party Is Anxious to Have Henry Ford

Washington, March 25.—The Senate has shoved Henry Ford off into a political No Man's Land.

Senator Borah, Republican, said Ford's bid for Muscle Shoals would be defeated in the Senate unless the Democrats supported it. Senator Neely, Democrat, asked:

"Will you separate the Republican party from Henry Ford, who recently attached himself to its standards?"

Brookhart, Republican, answered:

"Yes, we will be glad to let you have him."

Neely replied:

"We don't want him."

MOSES CLASHES WITH HEFLIN AT HEARING

Washington, March 25.—A sharp quarrel today between Senator Heflin of Alabama and Senator Moses of New Hampshire temporarily held up the investigation by a Senate sub-committee of charges that thousands of persons were mulcted of millions of dollars by fraudulent use of the mails in the Rio Grande Valley land development in Texas.

Heflin gave notice that he would carry the wrangle to the Senate floor.

Further correspondence between officials in Washington and prominent men who were interested in the inquiries into the land companies was presented to the sub-committee today.

R. B. Creager.
Int. News Reel Photo.

James B. Page, counsel for some 600 purchasers of Valley lands, was on hand with an armful of telegrams, letters and memoranda from the files of the Department of Justice and the Postoffice Department.

He told the investigators the record would show that the Postoffice Department's inquiry into operations of the Alamo Land and Sugar Company and other companies operating in Texas had been dropped after R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman from that State, and other officials of the land corporations, had visited government officials in Washington.

Creager was one of President Harding's intimates.

ever, asked that the resolution go over until tomorrow.

WALSH ACCUSES

A formal motion that the Senate proceed to immediate consideration of the resolution then was made by Senator Walsh, and the debate was renewed.

Chase had agreed to come to Washington to testify, Senator Walsh told the Senate and then, in its examination of telegrams, there had been disclosed a trip Chase made to talk with McKinney at Cleveland.

"The committee was given a memorandum in its search for the source of funds possessed by Senator Fall," Senator Walsh went on, "which indicated that he had received some $70,000 or $80,000 from a gentleman with whom he had business transactions in a foreign land.

"It appeared later that the gentleman in question was supposed to be McKinney. He denied when called as a witness that he had loaned such a sum of money. Yet, Mr. Chase, an officer of the United States, attempted to suborn perjury by getting Mr. McKinney to testify that he did so."

Mannington Ready to Appear Voluntarily

Paris, March 25 (I.N.S.).—Howard Mannington of Columbus, confidential friend of Attorney-General Daugherty, named, in testimony before the Daugherty committee, as a frequent visitor at the "little green house in K street," told International News Service today he was willing to testify voluntarily.

"I expect to return to the United States as soon as my business here is completed," said Mannington. "That will probably be within a month.

"I am perfectly willing to testify before the Senate committee if they call me."

Mannington was told of a report that the Senate was attempting to communicate with him through the American diplomatic forces in Paris to ask him to return to Washington to testify.

"I have not heard anything from Myron T. Herrick, the United States Ambassador, about my returning to testify," continued Mannington. "But I am perfectly willing to appear before the Senate committee if it is desired.

Betty Musante, Dorothy Cantillo, Antinette Sandello and Jennie and Mary Cantillo were among those forced to flee.

When the firemen arrived, the interior of the stable was a seething furnace. Above the roar of the flames could be heard the neighing of the horses as they struggled in their stalls. Efforts to rescue the horses proved futile.

COOLIDGE TO IGNORE ARMS LIMIT MOVE

Washington, March 25 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge has no intention of complying with the request Congress inserted in the navy bill that a new international conference be called to limit armament, it was stated at the White House today.

Conditions in Europe are such, in the President's belief, as to make such a conference "hopeless at the outset." This government, however, stands willing to initiate such a conference when the time is "propitious."

THAYER FAVORS U. S. CONTROL OF RADIO

Telephone President Would Also Foster Competitive Broadcasting

New York, March 25.—A strong radio policy, including the fostering of competitive broadcasting and endorsing Federal control of radio, was advocated today by President H. B. Thayer of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, at the annual stockholders' meeting.

Recently, as a result of patent infringement, action in the courts here the charge was made that the American T. & T. Company was trying to throttle radio broadcasting competition and build up a monopoly. In this regard Mr. Thayer said:

"Far from desiring sole responsibility for broadcasting it is our strong belief that, in the public's interest and in our own interests, nothing should be allowed to interfer with any development of broadcasting that may be proved to be beneficial. We heartily favor government control of such activities and the Federal legislation that is pending has our cordial support.

"A monopoly, either of broadcasting for entertainment of the public or for hire, is not desirable from any point of view. There has been no danger and is no danger of such a monopoly."

Mr. Thayer declared that his company would continue its experiments and would continue in every way to encourage the development of radio by others.

2 HURT AS CARS SMASH INTO LOCOMOTIVE

Springfield, March 25.—A Boston & Albany fireman was probably fatally scalded, his engineer sustained a broken ankle and the main line of the railroad was tied up when four runaway freight cars crashed into an engine at Woronoco, fifteen miles west of Springfield, today.

Robert J. Burke, 32, of City View avenue, west of Springfield, the fireman, is in critical condition at the Springfield Hospital.

John T. Teece, the engineer, is at his home at No. 23 James avenue, west of Springfield. He jumped when the crash came and broke his ankle.

Teece and Burke were in charge of an engine hauling a freight train to Springfield. One of the cars developed a hotbox and at Woronoco it was decided to shunt the damaged car to a siding.

The engine was pushing the car on the siding when four cars on the end of the train left standing on a main track broke loose.

NAMES TEMPORARY WELLS CO. RECEIVER

Greenfield, Mass., March 25.—Charles H. Keith of this town was appointed temporary receiver of the Wells Corporation, tap and die manufacturers, by Judge Nelson P. Brown of Superior Court in Springfield.

The appointment follows an injunction in the case of the Central Union Trust Company of New York against F. O. Wells and the Wells Corporation, restraining Mr. Wells from disposing of stock in six corporations.

HUMANE SOCIETY HAS BUSIEST YEAR

The past year has been the busiest in the history of the M. S. P. C. A., according to Dr. Francis H. Rowley, head of the society. The American Humane Education Society, with the Angell Memorial Hospital, helped materially in rendering aid to horses and other animals.

During the year 1,063 horses wee taken from work, and 1,251 horses humanely put to death. In the Summer months 46,419 horses were watered in Boston. Of 257 persons prosecuted for cruelty to animals, 232 were convicted.

Greek Republic Is Proclaimed, Says Athens Dispatch

London, March 25 (I.N.S.).—A republic has been formally proclaimed in Greece, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens today.

A later dispatch said that the proclamation of a republic is subject to a national plebiscite to be held later. The republican resolution passed the Greek assembly with a majority of 285 votes.

MAN ACCUSED OF ABDUCTING SCHOOLGIRL

Arrest of Newton Couple Ends Secret Love Affair of Fifteen-Year-Old Miss

The infatuation of a fifteen-year-old grammar school girl for a man twice her age led both into Newton court today.

The girl, Annie Dekamenowicz, was taken into custody with Peter Sarwin, twenty-nine. The couple were found in a boarding house in Boylston. They had filed marriage intentions in Boylston, the girl giving her age as eighteen years. The girl, whose parents live at No. 99 Linden street, Newton Upper Falls, is a student in the fifth grade of the Emerson Grammar School in that district.

Some time ago her parents learned she was infatuated with Sarwin of No. 7 Needham avenue. The parents forbade the girl to see Sarwin.

The pair met despite parental opposition, however, and disappeared St. Patrick's Day. Inspector James Shaugnessey of the Newton police, with warrant charging Sarwin with abduction, found the couple in Boylston.

Judge Thomas Weston in Newton court today continued the case until Friday. Sarwin was released on bail. The girl's case came up in juvenile court.

'PEACHES' WARNS GIRLS OF GAY LIFE AS SHE GOES TO JAIL

FIANCE LOYAL TO BEAUTY WHO STOLE 'FOR STYLE'

Mary Helen McGinn, whom her friends call "Peaches," shudders as she contemplates the four months she must spend in Salem Jail for taking things from Lynn department stores, but is eager to go through with the sentence if only her experience may serve as a horrible example to other girls.

"Peaches," an attractive blonde whose nickname was suggested by her peaches and cream complexion, stole from suburban dry goods stores to sell in the dressing room of Huntington avenue dance halls.

"The night life of Boston made me dizzy," she says, "I wasn't strong enough to stand up against it.

"Throughout the eight hours of my work-day, when I worked, I was thinking only of the evening, the lights, the music, the dancing, the swell dresses of other girls, the stylish garments of the young men.

"FOR GOOD FRONT."

"I wanted to make as good a front as my associates of the night, and at the right—or perhaps the wrong—moment, somebody told me how it could be done and is done, by many.

"Who that person was I am not going to say. I'm no stool pigeon. I knew better. I was taught differently in a good Christian home, in school and in church. I was the perfect boob, and I fell, but I am going to take my medicine without squealing.

"What fools we girls are!

"My first attempt was so successful that I wondered why I had not thought of the game before.

PLENTY OF MONEY.

"When evening came, I was back at the dance hall, and at intermission I was showing the things I had for sale. They went like hot-cakes. I had plenty of money. I was as good as anyone.

"So, I tried again.

"While the thing lasted I never was out of funds. I no longer envied the get-up of the other girls.

"It looked as if it might go on forever, and I was beginning to think of bigger jobs and bigger stakes when they tapped me on the shoulder in that Lynn store, asked me to step into the office a moment, and sent for a policeman.

"The end had come. Jail for me, disgrace for my poor father, sorrow for everyone belonging to me.

"I hope other girls will learn the lesson out of my experience. There is no luck in a dirty dollar. There is neither peace nor comfort nor true enjoyment for you if you take to the road with bad companions.

EXPECTS TO WED.

"When I get out I shall go away somewhere. I expect to be married. A little apartment, a good husband, the duties of a wife, my home in the evening and no more dance hall."

The girl's home was on Raymond street, in the Allston district. Her father blames "bad company."

The young man who waits for "Peaches" is Frank Alamo, a jewelry salesman.

"Mary isn't to blame," Frank says, "she was just a foolish kid who was dazzled by the swell janes she met at dances. They filled her head with foolishness. She tried to be like them. But she was not a crook at heart, and when the test came she was nabbed.

"Stick to her? What a rr I'd be if I went back on her, now!"

GANG OF 20 SOUGHT IN FORD PLOT

Demanded $1,050,000 or He Would Blind the Children; Trapped Man Confesses

Detroit, March 25 (I.N.S.).—Twenty men are sought by police today as accomplices of Maslox Simek, 23, in an alleged plot to extort $1,050,000 from Edsel Ford, son of Henry Ford, by threatening to kill Edsel and blind his wife and children.

Simek is said to have confessed that he was the tool of a gang of twenty radicals, and that Mrs. Annie Hladik, his landlady, whom he at first accused of forcing him to write the threatening letters, is innocent.

A warrant charging him with malicious theats to extort was recommended.

Mrs. Hladik was freed.

SIMEK TRIPPED.

Charged with threatening to remove the eyes of the three children of Edsel Ford unless their father placed $1,050,000 under a designated tree on a vacant lot at Myrtle street and Lawton avenue, Maslov Simek, twenty-three years old, was arrested by Detective Sergeants Gutch and Rode as he stooped for a fake box filled with imitation money.

Edsel Ford is the son of Henry Ford and president of the Ford Motor Company. He has two little sons and a daughter.

Ford says he received three letters, the first on March 5, the second three days later, and the third two weeks ago today.

ADMITS WRITING.

"Yes," Simek said when the two detectives pounced upon him, "I wrote to Edsel Ford and I mailed the letters, but it was not my idea. Annie Hladik thought it up and kept talking about it to me until I could almost count the money."

Mrs. Hladik, twenty-five years old, the proprietor of the boarding house at No. 3000 Sixteenth street, where Simek made his home.

Taken into custody on the strength of Simek's alleged confession, the young woman contented herself with a denial of his story.

ANN PROVES HOSTILE BRIDE

Stage Manager Hints Miss Pennington Is Matron, but He's Sorry Now

New York, March 25 (I.N.S.).—Who says Ann Pennington is married to Brooke Johns?

That is, who says it to her face?

Certainly not the stage manager of the Palace Theatre, where "The Follies" stars opened a special week's engagement by permission of the Ziegfeld office.

He tried it once, and take it from him, he won't do it again!

When Miss Pennington and Brooke Johns showed up at the theatre to look over the stage and be assigned to dressing quarters the manager approached them with the key to a dressing room.

"It is customary for married couples," he began, full of assurance, "to dress together."

Terrible silence.

"Ah, er, that is to say," he continued, "I have given you both the same room. I'm sure"—

"You're sure of what?" demanded Miss Pennington, wrathfully. Johns maintained a discreetly neutral attitude.

"Well, you two being married. You know"—

"I do not know, and you don't know, either. Who says we're married?"

"Now, now, Ann." It was Brooke Johns venturing a timid remonstrance.

"Now nothing" the star went on. "We're not married—and we're not going to dress together. That's that!"

"But where am I to dress?" Johns asked the stage manager plaintively.

"Out in the hall, maybe," she shot back. "I'm going to dress in here." And she took the room.

SLAYER SUSPECT IS HELD ON INDICTMENT

Pasquale Vannello, alleged slayer of Michael Profidio of No. 883 Huntington avenue, was discharged in Municipal Court today and immediately rearrested on an indictment warrant charging him with murder. Vannello, who claims an address in Chelsea street, East Boston, is alleged to have shot and killed Profidio in a Hanover street poolroom on March 10.

As a result of the indictment charging him with the murder, Judge Duff dismissed the lower court murder charge and Inspectors Cavagnaro and Crawford took Vannello into custody.

PROVIDENCE MAN IS DEAD IN AUTO CRASH

Providence, R. I., March 25.—John A. Lagerberg, sixty-seven, contractor of No. 57 Bissell street, was instantly killed on the Post road near Sand Pond, Norwood, when his automobile crashed into a telegraph pole, snapping it off at the base.

According to the Warwick police, Lagerberg was said by witnesses to have been speeding just before the crash. He was on his way to a new contract mason's job. He had made his home for some years in Providence, after coming here from Sweden.

JAIL 200 IN NEW YORK CRUSADE

Much Liquor Also Seized in a Drive Against the Bootleggers in Navy Yard Zone

New York, March 25.—Divisional prohibition headquarters announced today the completion of a drive on bootleggers in the district near the Brooklyn Navy Yard, in which 200 arrests were made and thousands of dollars' worth of liquor seized.

The drive was made by three enforcement agents who were trailed throughout the three weeks of their investigation by an automobile loaded with sailors, uniforms, dress suits, pedlars' wares of various kinds and other disguise paraphernalia which facilitated rapid changes.

The drive was ordered as the result of complaints made by Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, in charge of the navy yard, who recently declared a restricted zone about the government reservation because of the growing activities of dealers in illegal liquor and narcotic drugs.

BANDITS STEAL HIS $533 'LOVE NEST' ROLL

East Boston Man Robbed of Cash Needed for Wedding Set for Next Week

Three of the "meanest men in the world" held up Domenica Pasqualone of No. 88 Havre street, East Boston, today, and robbed him of $533, money he planned to use in buying furniture for an apartment into which he intended to take his bride when they are married next week.

Pasqualone is to wed Marie De Benedeto of No. 54 Williams street, Medford. The couple planned to buy their furniture today. Pasqualone went to Medford last night, taking the money with him. Early today he returned to East Boston. As he was walking along Sumner street three men stepped out of a dark doorway. One stuck a gun against his head. Another tied his hands behind his back and the third reached in his pocket and took the furniture roll. Then they disappeared.

Betty Alden Tells of Wedding Plans of Rear Admiral Wood's Daughter

By BETTY ALDEN.

THIRTY nimble fingers will form an alliance to perform one of the cleverest stunts in "Wake Up," next month's Vincent Club show.

A third of the thirty digits belong to pretty Miss Laura Taylor, another ten to auburn-haired Miss Alice Thomas and the rest of them to Miss Anna Fuller, who is the fiancee of Charlie Hubbard, hero of the Crimson eleven.

The trio of talented girls will give an entertaining pianologue, which is bound to be an outstanding hit of the show. The ability of these three Vincentities to "agitate the ivories" is no secret to their friends. But when "Wake Up" comes to the Opera House on the 3, 4 and 5 of next month, the public as well will have an opportunity to hear them perform.

Tickets are now on sale at Herrick's from 10 until 1 o'clock.

I HEAR that popular Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers, Jr. (Nina Higginson) will be an attendant at the wedding of Miss Margaretta Wood and John Howard Potter. The ceremonial will take place in Washington a week from Saturday.

Mrs. B. F. Rogers Jr.

Since her marriage, a year ago this month, the Francis L. Higginson's older daughter has been greatly missed by her host of friends here. She has paid several visits here since the marriage, which has taken her to Chicago, a warm welcome awaiting her each time.

Which reminds me that the former Nina Higginson and her husband celebrated their first wedding anniversary yesterday. Their wedding was solemnized on March 24 of last year at Emmanuel Church.

Natalie Hammond (Copyright Harris and Ewing)

Another bridesmaid at the Wood-Potter ceremonial will be Miss Natalie Hammond, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, have a Summer home in Gloucester.

The bride-to-be, whose parents, Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Spencer Wood, presented her to Boston society a few years ago, will have her sister, Miss Anna Elizabeth Wood as honor attendant. Others in the bridesmaids group include Miss Ethel Potter of New York, sister of the prospective bridegroom; Miss Elizabeth Robinson of Hartford; Miss Catrina F. Beale of Washington, and Mrs. Evan Fisher of San Francisco.

PHILIP A. MEANS, formerly of Commonwealth avenue, is now in Stockbridge, where, about a year ago, he bought the Warrin cottage on Lee street.

Mr. Means recently returned to the Berkshires from London, where he has an apartment on Half Moon street. He has brought over a portion of his collection of rare books and curios, which he is installing in his Stockbridge domicile.

Society Notes

MRS. RENE E. PAINE and her son, L. Gerald Paine, have joined the Boston colony at White Sulphur Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockwood H. Bullock of Worcester have been spending a few days in New York at the Ritz-Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, like the Reginald Boardmans, will remain at Palm Beach until late into the season.

Mrs. Albert R. Whittier of Commonwealth avenue was the guest of Mrs. Coolidge at the Roxy concert held last week in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stone of Boston have arrived in St. Augustine, Fla., at the Ponce de Leon.

OFFICER IS SHOT BY BORDER SMUGGLERS

Youngstown, N. Y., March 25.—Gilbert Carter, a village constable, was shot down by alien smugglers while patrolling the banks of the Lower Niagara River today. The constable, who was taken to a Niagara Falls hospital, said he was shot by one of a band of men who were lying in wait for the landing of a boatload of aliens being brought across the river from Canada.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebus, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them as occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms,—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.,—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results I obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent to me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 Armstead St., Phoebus, Va.

Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Lift Out Your Corns

ICE-MINT

THE NEW DISCOVERY ENDS ALL

Foot Troubles

This new discovery, made from a Japanese product, is certainly a wonder the way it draws out inflammation from a pair of swollen, burning, aching feet. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callous shrivels and lifts off.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. Just think! Not one bit of pain while applying Ice-Mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

You will never have to cut a corn again and run the risk of blood poison. Say goodby to your old corn salve, plasters and bundling take for that pet corn of yours is sure to be a "goner" if it ever feels the magic touch of Ice-Mint.

It imparts such a delightful, soothing, cooling feeling to the feet that you will sigh with relief.

Ice-Mint is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthy little feet. It prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes.

Just ask in any drug store for a little Ice-Mint and give your poor, suffering, tired, swollen feet the treat of their lives. It costs little and there is nothing better.

PAY BOOST FOR POSTMEN NOW SEEMS SURE

G. O. P. Leaders Agree to Include Proposal in Remaining Legislative Program

Washington, March 25 (C.N.S.).—The popularity of postal employes has overwhelmed practically all opposition to the proposal for an increase in their pay.

Congress stands today certain to pass legislation giving the workers a wage commensurate with their service.

Republican leaders have agreed to include the proposal for a wage increase in the remaining legislative program, the matter having been discussed at the recent White House conference between President Coolidge and Republican Congressional leaders.

Postmaster-General New, who wrote to the joint committee, opposing the increase at the time open hearings were being held, now recognizes the demands of the workers.

He is preparing a scale of salaries he will recommend to the committee drafting a bill.

Mr. New did not deny the justice of the claims of postal employes, but expressed opinion that legislation might be deferred. His recent interest has given impetus to the movement for congressional action this session.

As extensive hearings on the proposal have already been conducted, the House committee is expected to proceed to draft a report shortly after an opportunity is had to consider the scale of salaries to be submitted.

Sentiment among the members of the committee, headed by Representative W. W. Griest of Pennsylvania, appears to be highly favorable to the bill. Mr. Griest himself is committed to the increase.

Postal employes have produced figures to show the purchasing power of their pay is at least 25 per cent less than it was ten years ago.

One method suggested for raising the necessary revenue to care for the increase is to advance the rates on parcel post packages.

The workers have figures showing that 70 per cent. of the express business of the country is handled by parcel post and that the government is losing millions of dollars annually because of inadequate rates.

REBELS HOLD ALL BUT HONDURAN CAPITAL

Washington, March 25.—Honduran revolutionists are in complete possession of the entire country, except Tegucigalpa, the capital, American Minister Morales reported today to the State Department.

'TEDDY' WATCHED FOR BY HOPPE CHILDREN

"Teddy" has gone. Three Dorchester children eagerly await his return.

Pauline Hoppe

"Teddy," a two-year-old French bulldog, is owned by Captain Bernard F. Hoppe of No. 21 Mattakeesett street, Mattapan, captain of the Boston police traffic squad.

Since his advent into the Hoppe household "Teddy" has been the pet of the children of the neighborhood. Moreover, he's the idol of Captain Hoppe's three grandchildren, Bernard, Jr., Pauline and Fred Hoppe. In their home, No. 40 Oakwood street, Dorchester, they think of nothing but "Teddy."

Fred Hoppe

Bernard Hoppe, Jr.

On Sunday a member of Captain Hoppe's family went walking with "Teddy" on a leash. Came another dog and "Teddy," after the manner of most of his species, broke the leash and ran away.

Argument For Postal Raise Irrefutable

Congress is asked to pass a bill increasing the pay of letter carriers from $1800 to $2400 a year. The postal service is an integral part of all business and commercial life, and its workers ought to be paid more than just a living wage. Their jobs require speed, intelligence, honesty and strong bodies. Here is another good reason why the salaries of these men should be increased:

W. W. Lindsay

Letter Carrier W. W. Lindsay, attached to the Central Post Office, has been in the service for more than 25 years. His route covers Summer street. He is the father of two children. He supports his family and pays $35 a month rent, all on $1800 a year.

RUNAWAYS FLEE CITY FOR THE COUNTRY

Mattapan Girls, Missing Two Weeks, Turn Up in Sydney, N. S.

The big and wicked cities have no attraction for Theresa Manzole and Vivian Ballard, Mattapan girls.

They have departed from the conventional and instead of running away from the country to the city, have run away from the city to the country.

Theresa Manzole

Vivian Ballard

The girls, who have been missing from their homes for a fortnight, have turned up safely in Sydney, N. S. where one is staying with relatives and the other with friends.

They left Mattapan, according to the Manzole girl, a pretty little brunette, "to get away from the wickedness of the large cities."

Chief of Police J. B. McCormick of Sydney has notified Police Superintendent Crowley of the girls' presence in the Nova Scotia city.

Both girls have had their hair bobbed since leaving the lure of the cities and succumbing to bucolic attractions.

"The first thing Vivian and I did when we left the factory was to get our hair bobbed," Theresa said.

Drive the INDICAN Out of Your System

—the Danger Sign of Constipation

WARNING INDICAN shows that your blood is clogged with toxic poisons, due to constipation. Any day these may result in severe breakdown and disease. They often lead to rheumatism and heart and lung affections.

Whether you are constipated or not, every man and woman should immediately make this test to guard his health:

Have an analysis made of your specimen, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are because of headache, sallow complexion, no appetite and bad stomach — immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills. Next, have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears.

Doctors find that many "run down" nervous people simply are "doped" with constipation poisons, as indicated by the INDICAN TEST.

Here is the same person after a few days' treatment by Carter's Little Liver Pills—note the clean, normal specimen, FREE FROM INDICAN.

With freedom from constipation poisons, comes freedom from complexion blemishes—you eat well, sleep well and feel fit, in most cases.

Note: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world, is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is not habit-forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

AROUND-WORLD LINER DOCKS IN BOSTON

Only Three of San Francisco Guests Still on Board at End of First Trip

With only three of the twenty-two original San Francisco Chamber of Commerce guests remaining on board, the steamship President Harrison, first of the Dollar line Around-the-World service, docked at Boston yesterday, after having traversed eleven seas.

The President Harrison, fifty-four days out of port, brought 900 tons of Oriental goods to Boston. These will be unloaded in time for the craft to sail for New York at 11 o'clock tonight.

The three remaining members of the original "guest party" were Chairman Philip S. Teller of the delegation, William F. Bowers and N. G. Rogers. Bowers, a former Lynn man, is president of the Bowers Rubber Manufacturing Company of San Francisco.

Passengers who debarked at Boston were Mrs. A. P. Brockway and Mrs. Austin K. deBlois of Brookline, who have been touring the Holy Land; Mark Baldwin, Mrs. E. P. Barlow, J. B. Dixon, Jr., E. L. Eldridge and E. Harb.

Shortly after the arrival of the President Harrison, another Dollar liner, the M. S. Dollar, arrived, bringing back from Shanghai Rear Admiral and Mrs. W. W. Phelps and their son, Southwick Phelps. Mrs. Phelps is the daughter of the late John Claflin Southwick of Lowell.

"In the westernmost province of China," said the naval officer, "there are 60,000,000 people eager to buy American goods. American prestige is high. They are convinced that we have no territorial ambition and are willing to trade with us."

It is rumored that Rear Admiral Phelps will relieve Admiral Plunkett in command of the New York naval district.

STARVED TO DEATH IN HOTEL ROOM

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—An aged man, who starved to death in his room in a small hotel here without asking for aid, was identified today as Reuben MacFarland by a sister, Mrs. Charles Widener of Troy. The man, who had lived in the hotel for six years under the name of John Snow, entered his room two months ago, never to leave it again.

Two weeks ago he ceased to order food and each day told the maid who went to his room that he was all right and wished to be left alone.

Wouldn't it puzzle a man from Mars to learn that it is all right, on earth, for eight Italians to play music in front of a corpse that can't hear or enjoy it, and all wrong for them to play the same music in the same place in the same day for the pleasure of those with ears to hear? We are queer bipeds.

YOU WOULD say that big muscles on arms and back are more valuable earners than deep convolutions in the brain, as you read of offers made to Mr. Jack Dempsey. He has a moving picture offer of a million, and two offers running from half a million to a million, for a few minutes of fighting.

"Muscle is king," you say, but then you remember that John D. Rockefeller, leaning over for his 21-foot putt, might have one little thought that would earn him fifty millions and he wouldn't have to be photographed, or fight, to get it.

DR. LEITCH, of the Cancer Hospital in London, has discovered a method of producing cancer artificially. Isoprene tar, on a mouse's back, causes a small wart which, soon branches out and becomes a cancer. That's an important discovery, for knowing how to CAUSE a disease is the first step toward knowing how to CURE it.

Some of the extra kind-hearted will probably say, "Poor, dear, little mice, how horrible." They wouldn't object if they could see a human being slowly dying of cancer.

OFFICER SLAIN AS FREE STATE TROOPS CLASH

President Cosgrave Reported Eager to Resign Because of Failing Health

Dublin, March 25 (I.N.S.).—A Free State officer was killed in a clash between Free State and Republican troops at Carrigaline, near Cork, today. John Keegan, leader of the Republicans, was captured.

It is understood President William T. Cosgrave is anxious to resign on account of his health.

Dublin, March 25 (Universal).—It is possible that before the end of this week the Free State government will be dissolved.

A meeting of the government's supporters in the Dail and Senate has been called for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, the circular giving the object of the meeting as "to discuss internal dissensions of the party."

The government's position has become so bad that it is doubtful whether they ever have a majority among their own party members in the Dail.

The incident at Queenstown has nothing whatever to do with the present crisis, though it is adding to the difficulties.

The government headquarters now have information that the leader of the attack on the party of British soldiers and their families from Spike Island, was Sandow Donovan, a notorious gunman, who was a dock worker.

It is understood President Cosgrave is dissatisfied with the way Kevin O'Higgins handled the Queenstown situation.

Driver Hurt in Crash

John Collins, sixty-one, of No. 75 B street, South Boston, received injuries to the back and legs when a garbage wagon he was driving collided with a trolley car on Broadway, South Boston, today. Collins was thrown from the team and a wheel passed over his right leg and back. He is in a serious condition at Carney Hospital.

Mrs. H. Doen

New York Is Noted for Its Beautiful Women

Harrison, N. Y.—"For years I was bothered with my blood and stomach and also constipation. The doctor said I was anemic and if I didn't take care of myself he feared consumption. His medicine failed, so my mother decided to try the remedies she had used for ten or twelve years. She started to give me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a good blood tonic, and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for my bowels, and these medicines made me feel fine. I was not able to sleep nights and was irritable before, but after taking the 'Discovery' I could sleep well and felt good. I thought my case was hopeless and I was cured, so you may be, too. Why suffer?"—Mrs. H. Doen, East White Plains.

HUERTA REPORTED IN FLIGHT TO HAVANA

Mexico City, March 25 (A.P.).—Reports say Adolfo de la Huerta, supreme rebel leader, is bound for Havana, Cuba having changed the course of his vessel after learning of the departure from the United States of the federal gunboat Bravo, which has arrived at Tampico. Other advice say he is still in Mexico.

Enrique Estrada, rebel chief in the west, was last reported to be attempting to escape by sea from Acapulco.

MOSLEMS TO FIGHT POLITICAL ZIONISM

London, March 25.—The Daily Express Jerusalem correspondent quotes King Hussein of the Hedjaz, who is hailed as Caliph by the Arabs, as declaring that he will fight "political Zionism" with all the forces of the Moslem world.

He will ask financial, political and moral support for this fight at the Pan-Moslem Congress which he has summoned at Mecca.

TAKES SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

Says Jad Salts Relieves Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach. Then we can feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch up gas; we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescing, and, furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.

THOUSANDS PAY HONOR TO NEW CARDINALS

Americans Join in Reception Held by Hayes and Mundelein After Their Elevation

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL.

Rome, March 25 (I.N.S.)—Thousands of congratulations, some by word of mouth and others by cable and radio, poured in today upon Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago and Cardinal Hayes of New York, who have just been created princes of the Roman Catholic Church.

The two new cardinals held receptions in their temporary residence, thousands of Americans being among those in attendance.

By the acquisition of two additional cardinals, making four in all, the United States now assumes a prominent position in the councils of the Catholic church.

The public consistory in St. Peter's Cathedral on Thursday morning, the first public consistory ever held there, will terminate the ceremonies.

According to the Agenzia Liberia, Pope Pius XI. anxiously discussed the Palestine situation with the two new cardinals during their papal audiences. The Pontiff is especially anxious over the unfavorable report upon Palestine conditions made by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Pope Pius XI. is fearful that the Catholics may be driven from Palestine.

It is reported that Cardinal Mundelein and Cardinal Hayes agreed to give all possible assistance, both in influence and finances, to encourage Catholic colonization in Palestine.

Another report stated that the new Cardinals already have given the Pope large contributions for relief work.

Don't forget that the Boston American "Inspected-Insured" used car service gives the purchaser fire and theft insurance for a limited time. Look for the certificate.

REAL KNOCKOUT IN 'GAY WHITE WAY' FIGHT

Oscar Shaw Trained 12 Weeks for Picture Bout; Was K. O.'d Himself During the Filming

The ordinary movie fan generally looks on at a prize fight in a moving picture and imagines it is all "framed" and that the hero is having a fine time.

In "The Great White Way," the thrilling Cosmopolitan film now showing at the Park Theatre, there is a prize fight.

Oscar Shaw, the picturesque fighting star of the picture, gives a wonderful exhibition. And—take it direct from Mr. Shaw himself—that fight was a beauty. A regular he-man's affair with every punch carrying a terrific kick.

"You may not know this, but I actually trained twelve weeks in preparation for that one fight," said Shaw. "It was real training, too, under real trainers and with regular fighters as sparring partners.

"When the twelve weeks were up I was fit to fight almost anything. When the fight was staged there was more than one real kick in it.

"At the end of the second round there was one unexpected wallop. Just as the camera man 'cut' at the end of that round the other fighter handed me one on the chin that knocked me almost cold. I never received such a wallop in my life.

REAL KNOCKOUT.

"Well, take it from me, when I handed him the final knockout it was a real one. I handed him back what he gave me in that second round. I knocked that fellow stone cold—and he is a regular professional fighter, too. He did not fake any knockout. I knocked him out as cold as he ever will be knocked in his pugilistic life.

"There were other thrills in that picture that were real, too. In the big fire scene I was nothing but a mass of bruises and cuts after it was over. Broken glass showered on me as I carried Miss Stewart out. It was the most realistic fire I ever want to be in."

Oscar Shaw is appearing in person at the matinee performance of "The Great White Way" today, Thursday and Friday. This week will afford movie fans their last opportunity to see the popular player at the Park Theatre and also the gripping film depicting life on Gotham's main street.

The big feature film is in its last week. Saturday will close the Boston engagement, which leaves only eight more performances after tonight's. At two of these performances Mr. Shaw will appear in person.

WON OVER TO MOVIES.

He is playing also in "One Kiss" at the Colonial Theatre, and tells of his experiences in the great Cosmopolitan picture, through the courtesy of Charles Dillingham.

"The Great White Way" is Mr. Shaw's first appearance in the movies. He declares he has been won over by them and intends to do more. He has been a musical comedy star for the last fifteen years. He is married and Mrs. Shaw is here in Boston with him.

ANTI-GLACIAL BONES SHOW ADVANCED TYPE

Los Angeles, March 25.—Humans of a comparatively advanced type inhabited Southern California before the Glacial Period, some 15,000 or 20,000 years ago, in the opinion of paleontologists studying three fossil skulls and portions of four human skeletons unearthed near here. Today excavators sought at the bottom of a twenty-three foot pit still further confirmation of their belief that the skeletons belonged to human beings who roamed these shores in glacial times.

ERIN'S IMMIGRATION QUOTA IS 20,000

Washington, March 25.—The Irish Free State is insured a separate quota in the pending immigration bill as the result of a "perfecting" amendment which has been inserted in the committee draft of the Johnson bill.

Based on the 1890 census it is estimated that Ireland will be entitled to an annual quota of over 20,000, faring better in this respect than any of the Central European countries and obtaining over 10 per cent. of the total permitted immigration.

LEWIS RETAINS WRESTLING TITLE BY BATTLING SET-UPS

STASIAK IS DODGED BY CHAMPION

By JACK CONWAY

Strangler Lewis, world's heavweight champion, manages to cling on to his title by refusing to clash with the leading contenders for his crown. For more than two years Lewis has been touring the country, battling rank set-ups. He has refused to enter a ring with every man who has seriously threatened to defeat him.

Although Lewis still holds the world's championship, there are many keen experts of the mat game who are of the opinion that there are several men who would be able to conquer the Strangler. When a star challenger begins to make thing too uncomfortable for Lewis, Billy Sandow, his manager, takes on a match with some lesser light. By keeping Lewis active on the mat, he figures he can halt the torrent of criticisms which is being directed at the title holder.

Joe Stecher, Stanley Stasiak, Wladek Zbyszko and other high class wrestlers have been refused matches by Lewis. The only reason for the champion's actions is because he has not confidence in his own ability to conquer these men.

LEWIS WRESTLES SET-UPS AND AVOIDS STASIAK

Stasiak and Wladek Zbyszko recently battled for the right to meet Lewis for the title. When Stasiak won, Lewis, as usual, went into his shell. Instead of agreeing to meet the Polish champion, he went on a tour of the Middle West where he "risked" his title in contests with the rankest type of set-ups.

Of course few persons who know the methods by which Lewis clings on to his championship expected he would have the courage to sign for a match with Stasiak. The latter is young, strong, courageous and a fine wrestler. He would have an even chance of defeating the champion. And the Strangler does not enter a ring with an opponent who is as good as he is himself.

The fans should refuse to patronize shows in which Lewis appears until he comes forth and tackles Stasiak, Wladek Zbyszko or some equally high class opponent.

Braves Sure They Can Beat the Dodgers

By NICK FLATLEY.

Clearwater, Fla., March 25.—The Braves have not won a game away from their Florida home pasture yet, but expect to remove that blemish here today when they tackle the Dodgers.

The boys who were beaten by the White Sox in the Winter Haven collision didn't have much of a jump to put on this contest, just a little hop of twenty miles or so, which is nothing in this Winter league.

So they had no excuse.

The excursion to Winter Haven, enjoyable enough through some of Florida's most beautiful scenery, was alleged by the noble athletes not to have been good for them. Had they won things might have been different of course. It was a mere bus ride of 100 miles.

Sperber

The defeat had some advantage inasmuch as it displayed to the curious that Jess Barnes has rounded into form. Jess was knocked all around the orchard by the Phils the other day, but he went three very fine chapters against Chicago, who prevously had a most enjoyable time pounding Sterling Stryker.

Only two base knocks were collected off our Jess, who had a curve ball with more breaks than a long distance phone call, plenty of speed, and the very best control. Most flingers of the star order would balk at a performance in a lopsided game like that but Jess seldom kicks.

He has the new Braves feeling, which is one of the best things Manager Bancroft has manufactured to date.

Bill Cunningham

If our bat swingers can bring their Southern habits north they will be very popular in Boston. They have won two very impressive home games and shut out both the White Sox and the Giants. And they looked like champions. Similar things on the Allston pasture will be perfectly satisfactory.

Young Stryker, who was given his first real tryout, had a very tough time for himself. He was hit hard enough mostly because he was trying to put too much on the ball. Despite his fate he looked natural enough out in the box and kept bearing down all the time, which shows that the proper brand of courage is parked in his sturdy frame.

Both coaches, Rudolph and Farrell, who take care of battery matters, like the boy's prospects. He has pitching sense as they call it. He knows how to stand on the rubber and how to vary his speed. He doesn't throw his arm off with every ball he pitches, either.

Kyle Graham

Stryker has had a lot of minor league experience and will get a thorough trying-out before he comes up for final judgment.

Tim McNamara and Johnny Cooney were the box choices for today's contest. Both have rested for more than a week and need work anyhow.

Manager Bancroft is especially anxious to look over McNamara again. Tim has been shooting over the stuff that made him look a world beater last Spring.

He isn't being pushed too hard as there seems to be a notion that overwork robbed him of his effectiveness, meaning control, in the '23 campaign.

ROBSON READY TO FIGHT TOM GIBBONS

As all the middleweights in the world refuse to have anything to do with Tommy Robson, he is ready and willing to take on all the light heavyweights and would like nothing any better than a chance to swap punches with Tom Gibbons.

JACK BULGER, NOTED BOXING MAN, DEAD

Newark, N. J., March 25.—Jack Bulger, manager of Mickey Walker, champion welterweight boxer of the world, died in St. Michael's Hospital, shortly after 5 o'clock from peritonitis which followed acute appendicitis. Bulger underwent an operation last week.

Jack Bulger

Blood transfusion was resorted to late last night in efforts to save his life. Hearing of his friend's condition, Walker cancelled a match at Philadelphia with Johnny Gill and hastened to the hospital, where he offered his blood. Physicians, after tests, selected the manager's brother, William Bulger.

The champion remained at the bedside until the end. In addition to Walker, Harold Farese, a former boxer; Joe Dodds, a friend, and Joe Degnen, Bulger's secretary, were with him.

Bulger was thirty-five years of age and in addition to his wife he is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

NATE SIEGAL STOPS AVILA IN THE SIXTH

Nate Siegal, the pride of Revere, scored his third straight victory since his comeback when he scored a technical knockout over Johnny Avila, the tough Pole, from Lowell.

Nate had everything his own way all through the fight and punched his man all over the ring. In the second round he knocked him down for the count of nine, but Avila managed to stay for the rest of the round. In the fourth Avila gave one of the best exhibitions of gameness seen in any ring when Siegal had him up against the ropes absolutely helpless and showered blows on him left and right but he came back for more.

At the beginning of the sixth Siegal came out of his corner determined to end his man and started to whale away with both hands until Referee Dick Fleming stepped in and stopped the slaughter.

JOCK MALONE SIGNS TO BATTLE RATNER

Jock Malone, St. Paul middleweight, and Augie Ratner of New York have been signed to clash in a ten-round bout at the Faneuil A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building on April 4. Malone won a questionable decision over Ratner in a tussle in this city a couple of years ago.

NATIONAL STAR FIVE PLAYS CELTICS

The appearance of "Whitey" Bernott of Worcester, "Dutch" Gunther of Springfield and Wally Banks of Providence on the Boston Nationals against the Original Celtics of New York in Mechanics Building Thursday night is looked forward to with interest by basketball fans.

This crackajack trio with "Tacks" Connell, Hugh Dolan, Dan Silva and Walter Costello make up the Nationals. They never have shown their court wares in Boston. Banks, Gunther and Bernott rank with the greatest basket shooters in New England, and experts who have seen them perform say they will make things interesting for the world champs.

In the other game on the doubleheader bill at Mechanics Thursday evening the St. Mary's Catholic Club of Cambridge will settle a long-standing argument with the Brockton Young Men's Hebrew Association.

St. Mary's ranks at the top of the list in the Knights of Columbus basketball team standing and tonight will receive a stiff test from the Chelsea K. of C. This should put the Cambridge outfit in good trim for their clash with the Brockton Y. M. H. A. five.

The strength of the Brockton team may be learned from the fact that on Saturday night it defeated Plymouth on the latter's home floor.

"Spider" Loppchig, at centre, along with the great Johnny Beckman and Nat Holman, are the big guns of the Celtics who will play the Nationals.

VAL PICINICH WAS NUMBER EIGHTEEN

Val Picinich, Red Sox catcher, was the correct title to picture number 18 which appeared in Saturday's American. Following are the ten winners:

G. K. Whitney, Musketaquid road, Concord.

W. J. Ahearn, No. 19 Myrtle street, Boston.

P. D. Lang, No. 244 Amory street, Jamaica Plain.

Mel Comuso, No. 20 Short street, Lawrence.

William Rosenberg, No. 51 Deering road, Mattapan.

James Gill, No. 11 Coleman street, Dorchester.

T. F. Herlihy, No. 113 Winter street, Cambridge.

W. J. McIntire, No. 60 Granite avenue, Dorchester.

John Driscoll, No. 76 Conant street, Roxbury.

Daniel Byrne, No. 35 Beacon street, Boston.

The contest is over with the publication of today's picture. It is worth trying to answer correctly, as the winners will be awarded tickets to the opener between the Red Sox and the Yankees.

If you've answered every picture correctly, and not yet won a ticket, today may be your lucky day. So send in your answer in the first mail, as the early birds are the most likely to gather the prize.

Red Sox to Send Jiggs Donaghue to Minors

By FRED C. LANE.

San Antonio, Tex., March 24.—Oftentimes in a desperate effort to make an impression on a major league manager a rookie will over do himself ant spoil his chance to make the grade.

"Jiggs" Donaghue of Roxbury, who came South with the Red Sox, worked his head off to condition himself and hurt his chances to stay with the club.

Babe Herman

Donaghue is one of the best liked fellows in the camp because of his good nature and his willingness. Jiggs put in too much hard work to make good and as a result he is one of the group of new comers who will return to Boston with Coach Hugh Duffy to await the final orders from Manager Lee Fohl.

Donaghue is at an age where weight reduction prevents a man from getting down to real shape unless he gives something away in return. Jiggs attempted weight reduction racket with sad results.

The Roxbury lad has his troubles fielding and throwing to first. His arm is weak. It was one of his strong assets when he played in the outfield for the Waterbury club in the Eastern League last Summer.

Phil Todt

Jiggs made a mistake trying for an infield berth. He had all the appearances of being a smart ball player about shortstop for the first week or two but since then has seemed to fade.

He is better suited for the outer garden and his record so shows, but he felt that he would be best as an infield player.

Unfortunately for the Roxbury citizen, the Red Sox reserve strength of infielders is exceptionally strong. Players with many years of service like Danny Clark and Phil Todt, who played well in big league uniform, outshine fellows with Donaghue's ability. So that it is next to impossible for him to get a place.

Almost the same condition exists in the outfield. Ike Boone who will play right field is a batting marvel. He saw service with the Giants in the Southern League.

Lee Fohl

Then there is John Collins with many years of service in the big show and Joe Connolly last season with Cleveland.

It would be a difficult task for Donaghue to jump from a Class B minor league to the big performers in a year.

PITTSBURGH IS WINNER OVER CLEVELAND

Cleveland, March 25.—Pittsburgh won the western group championship of the United States Amateur Hockey League. The Yellow Jackets defeated Cleveland, 2 to 1, in an overtime period game.

Lionel Conacher

The victory gives Pittsburgh the right to play the Boston A. A. for the league championship.

Referee Steve Vair of Toronto, who is alleged to have made a questionable decision, was escorted off the ice by police.

The first period was scoreless, but in the second Smith tallied for the Yellow Jackets. De Bonardi tied the count in the third period.

Lionel Conacher drove home the goal that won the title in the overtime session.

Vair, it is alleged, had signalled to stop play for a penalty a fraction of a second before the winning goal was scored.

He declared, however, that the disc was sent past Goal Tender Vernon Turner before Vair rang the bell.

His action enraged the fans, who threatened the referee.

It was one of the roughest games ever seen in Cleveland.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth. . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and will do it. Also it will aid digestion and furnish welcome refreshment to mouth and throat.

OLYMPIC COACH PICKS OUT THE FIVE BEST ATHLETES

THREE OF THE STARS FORMER BRICKLAYERS

Philadelphia, March 25.—"Ted" Meredith, "Joie" Ray, "Mel" Sheppard, "Jim" Thorpe and Hannes Kohlemainen are the five greatest athletes that Lawson Robertson, coach of the American Olympic team ever knew.

Ted Meredith

So he declared the other day; and, being an authority who brought to Penn the intercollegiate indoor title two years in succession and who since 1902 has had his finger on the so-called pulse of track affairs, he has his reasons for putting his stardom stamp on the quintet named and for placing them on pedestals in his private Hall of Athletic Fame.

It's rather peculiar, and Robertson commented upon it, that three of the stars were bricklayers.

"Meredith learned his trade at the Williamston Trade School," the Red and Blue coach smilingly declared; Kohlemainen worked for seven years at bricklaying, and Joie Ray put in some time laying bricks.

"Figure it out yourself if there is something in bricklaying that makes a man a great athlete."

Robertson picked the peerless "Ted" first, because he excelled perhaps every man who ever wore a spiked shoe, and second, because he is a conspicuous example of the model athlete—a model for the youth of today who wants to become an athlete.

Joie Ray

"There was a boy who apparently was small, yet so well was he built, with a body that gave him great power and legs that held wonderful speed, that he excelled perhaps any man who ever wore track shoes.

"That is what the athlete today should strive for—a body that is big and robust and that will carry him through when his legs begin to sag and show the ravages of time," Coach Robertson said.

Meredith's salient achievements include establishment of world's records for the 440 yards, the half-mile and the 800 metres.

Ray, in the Olympic coach's estimation, is the perfect running machine.

"That's why I pick him," Robertson declared. "Whenever you watch Ray run—smooth, no jerking, no leaping, such a perfect running stride all the time—you begin to think of the poetry of motion.

"Joie Ray has won perfection in running—perfection in style and judgment. He uses wonderful headwork.

"I can't leave out 'Mel' Sheppard," Robertson continued. "He is now coach of the Milrose A. A. and won the national championships and was a great middle-distance runner.

Jim Thorpe

"Sheppard's great value, and the reason for my choice, lay in the fact that he was a wonderful competitive athlete.

"If you look over his records you'll find that he was not so fast, but nobody ever beat him. He could lick any of 'em, and he did whenever he got a chance."

"Jim" Thorpe, he said, would be classed as one of the greatest athletes we have ever produced because of his baseball and football ability and no mean ability in field and track sports.

In Kohlemainen Robertson sees in many respects the greatest distance runner that ever lived. He won three world's records at Stockholm in the 1912 Olympics and holds all American records from three to ten miles.

"Remember how he won the Marathon in 1912 in Sweden," the Olympic coach enthused, "a'nd came back eight years later at Antwerp and repeated his triumph? He's entered from Finland this year at Paris, and if he wins (he has a good chance, by the way) he will have accomplished a feat never before recorded and which may never be equalled.'

According to reports he has received, Robertson said, the outstanding Olympic athlete at this year's meet in Paris may be Hoff, a Norwegian, now rated Europe's greatest athlete.

H. Kohlemainen

The coach of the Yankee Olympic team began his track career under the colors of the now extinct Knickerbocker A. C. back in 1902. Later he joined the Irish-American A. C. attained fame as a competitive athlete and then as coach of the club. His tutoring ability gained recognition when he did his stuff at New York University and Brooklyn College, coming to the University of Pennsylvania eight years ago.

He reached the pinnacle of his coaching career when he was chosen head mentor of the team that will represent the United States at the Paris Olympics.

KOTSY HAS HIS WORK CUT OUT FOR HIM

George Kotsonaros Greek titleholder has his work cut out for him to defeat Angelo Taramaschi, the Italian champion, in their finish match at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night.

Jack Albright

Angelo has trained for this match as never before in his career. He is not satisfied with one partner. He works with three and four daily and has done five to six miles on the road every morning for three weeks.

His principal trainer is Nick Bozinis the rising young Greek star. Although it seems strange to see a Greek train an Italian to beat another Greek, such is really the case.

There is no hero worship between Bozinis and Kotsonaros. Bozinis yearns for a few more pounds of weight so he could attempt to make a mess out of Kotsonaros.

As it is he would be perfectly willing to tackle him. Consequently he is doing his best to get Angelo ready to beat Kotsy and will be his chief second in the coming match.

Kotsonaros will not suffer from want of condition however as he works with the best boys in the Union Gymnasium. He is in wonderful shape and is of the opinion he can beat any Italian wrestler. The Greeks of Greater Boston will turn out in numbers to root for him to win.

In the opening number Savage Toolos the rough house Greek will have it out in a one-fall finish match with Bozinis.

In the other bout on the card Jack Albright will lock horns with John Kilonis the Greek International champion. This bout will be no love affair.

TOM TUNNEY STOPS; HIS HEART IS WEAK

Worcester, March 25.—Tom Tunney, star twirler of last year's Classical High School nine and brother of Jim Tunney, who has been out with Jack Barry's Holy Cross battery condidates since the opening call, has given up baseball for the season because of a weak heart. Tunney has been advised by his physician to drop baseball for this season at least, so he quit the Purple squad. He showed great promise under the tutelage of Barry and made a strong bid for the nine.

Wayland Golf Club on Semi-Public Basis

The Wayland Golf Club started to do business last Fall on a semi-public basis. The efforts were crowned with success immediately, so much so in fact that a change in policy will be made this season, one which will aim to lead to a permanent organization, better playing conditions, a more up to date clubhouse and locker room facilities, and all these things at a cost which will permit hundreds of golfers to locate in a regular golfing home.

Although it is expected that transients will be accommodated to a certain extent, it is the expectation of . C. Russell, owner of the property, to eventually do away with that system when a certain number have been admitted to the club.

Golfers are now admitted to membership for the sum of $60, plus war tax. This amount can be paid in a lump sum or in two instalments. Only fifty probably will be admitted at this unusual figure.

After the organization reaches that number it is likely the fees will be increased. In other words, the first to come will be the gainers.

What is offered at Wayland is play on nine holes of a temporary character, in historical and picturesque surroundings.

There is a fine club house, a locker building, boat house and bath house. The last will be used in connection with sports on the pond of the estate of 200 acres, with bright prospects of better conditions in every respect in the near future.

All money derived from memberships will be turned over to a special committee to be expended as they decide to improve club conditions.

All other expenses will be borne by the property owner, who believes in that well known motto, "Conceive a need and satisfy it."

Golfers agree that cheaper golf is needed and there are few places where it is possible to obtain it.

Camp Parker played in the 102 minute tie with the Greenwood Hockey Club of Wakefield in the New England series.

RED CHAPMAN WINS OVER DIXON IN THIRD

New Bedford, March 25.—Red Chapman of Boston won from Johnny Dixon of Paterson, N. J., in the third round of one of the most sensational scraps seen at the Elm Rink in years.

Dixon carried the fight to the clever Boston boy at the start, but was unable to maintain the terrific pace. He put Chapman on the defensive in the first round with a shower of left hooks to the head and body and crossed his right wickedly to the jaw.

In the eight round semi-final, Spike Hennessey of Waltham, outpunched Paul DeSalvo of Quincy. Hennessey had the better defence and landed the cleaner and more telling blows. The Quincy battler had a pronounced weight advantage and was on the defensive up to the last round. His rally was too late to turn the tide.

Pat McCarthy

Howard McRae and Paddy Owens will lead a group of a dozen East Cambridge boxers, who will do their bit for the Roxbury veterans. Billy Canty has been assured, that in addition to the above named, Mickey Blaine, Young Grady, Young Corcoran, Joe Roderick, Frank O'Gara, Mike Mandot, Tommy Morrison and Mickey Corcoran of Barney Fox's stable, will be on hand.

Other bouts already arranged are as follows: Pat McCarthy and George Robinson; Pal Reed and Felix King; "Wop" Mannolian and Bartie O'Neil; Eddie Williams and Terry Parker; Dinnie Glynn and Ernie Cowette; Walter Lee and Joe St. Hilaire; Terry McManus and Young Gately; Tansey Norton and Irish Patsy Mulkern; Larry Robertson and Harry Foley.

GREB STOPS KEISER IN TWELFTH ROUND

Baltimore, March 25.—Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, middleweight titleholder, scored a technical knockout over Fay Keiser of Cumberland, Md., in the 12th round of their scheduled 15-round bout.

Keiser was outclassed and took a bad beating in every round.

The bout was stopped by the referee after Keiser had been floored heavily with a left hook to the jaw for a count of two and was helpless with Greb pummeling him unmercifully in a neutral corner.

DILBOY TO PUT ON AMATEUR MAT SHOW

On Thursday evening the Dilboy Post, V. F. W., will broaden out in amateur circles by departing from the boxing road and staging an amateur wrestling meet in Highland Hall, K. of C. Building, Somerville.

This organization has established an enviable reputation in promoting amateur boxing, and the members of the Post are anxious to turn their attention to amateur wrestling in an endeavor to put this sport on a firm basis and to enable the amateur wrestlers an opportunity to display their wares to the large following that this live wire organization possesses.

There will be competition in the three following classes, viz: 135, 147 and 160 pounds, and the committee is in receipt of entries from the cream of each class, and it is expected that the New England champions of each of these classes will put in an appearance.

TECH'S RIFLE TEAM DEFEATS CARNEGIE

The Technology rifle team added another victory to its long list when they won from Carnegie Tech, 497 to 492, a total of eight wins out of 10 matches, as well as a third place in the New York city intercollegiates.

It was thought that the Carnegie match would go to Tech on default, due to delay in the Carnegie scores, but the targets have been accepted by the association.

The individual scores for the Carnegie shoot, included perfect targets by Fielding and Holmes. They follow:

M. I. T., Capt. Creveling, 99; Peterson, 99; Fielding, 100; Holmes, 100; Murphy, 99.

Tuohey Arranges Fine Wrestling Program

Boston wrestling fans may pat themselves on their backs over the fine program that G. Cincent Tuohey has arranged for their entertainment in Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

The card, incidentally, brings here for the first time the renowned Pat McGill of Nebraska, whose sensational work against Lewis at New York set the Big Burg to buzzing about the big fellow's chances for the title.

McGill, declared to be more clever than Caddock, more powerful than either of the Zbyszkos, more aggressive than Mondt, is tickled over the chance to go against a fellow like John Grandovich, who combines his great strength with a fair share of crude science, mixed with rough tactics.

This match will go best two out of three falls to a positive finish, with Cyclone Burns refereeing.

The semi-final will find Joe Alvarez in fine form for his battle with Allen Eustace, the Kansas star, who has been crowding on the heels of the top-liners for the past two years.

Alvarez is out to wipe out the defeat by Mondt, due to taking that match without a chance to train, and believes that when he gets through with Eustace he will again be restored to the good graces of Boston fans.

Eustace is naturally confident that he will "take" the Panama wonder, in spite of the latter's well recognized ability as a headlock artist.

Eustace believes he can outspeed Joe from beginning to end. Joe declares that Eustace will find himself sadly mistaken, and there the matter lays until they settle it on a mat.

The fans who like the rough going will in all likelihood get plenty of this style, when Patsy McCarthy and Charley Marshall clash in the opening number. McCarthy says he intends to prove that Marshall never defeated him in spite of the fact that the French Canadian has a "Patsy McCarthy" listed among his victims.

ST. JOSEPHS HAVE A TOURNAMENT FRIDAY

The next tournament of the St. Joseph's T. A. S. is scheduled for Friday night at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin square, in the 108, 118, 126, 135, 147 and 160-pound classes. The 108, 147-pound classes are open, while the other classes are for novices.

Entries will be received by William H. Cuddy, No. 95 Cambridge street.

GEORGE E. ALGAR TO CAPTAIN DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., March 25. — George E. Algar '26 of Dorchester, Mass., former Huntington School star, and back stroke swimmer for the past two years on the Green team, was elected captain of swimming for 1925. He is also a dash man of no mean ability, but has confined his work to the back stroke since he captained his prep school natators.

MRS. BARLOW IS THE MEDAL WINNER

Pinehurst, N. C., March 25 (Universal).—Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, won the medal in the North and South championship. Mrs. Barlow returned a card of 41-45-86 and led Miss Dorothy Richards, of Cleveland, by two strokes.

Glenna Collett

The great surprise of the day was the failure of Miss Glenna Collett to do better than 89. Miss Collett was tied for third place with Mrs. Joseph Pydolek, of Buffalo, and Miss Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, the Ohio State champion.

Miss Collett will meet Mrs. C. M. Daniels, of Buffalo, in the first round today. Miss Fordyce will meet Mrs. C. M. Butterfield, of Battle Creek, and Mrs. Barlow will play Miss Margaret King, of Lambton, Ont.

Miss Collett and Miss Fordyce are favored to meet in the final.

YOU CAN'T SHAKE HANDS WITH HOPPE

Friendly Greetings Nearly Spoil Champion's Game.

Willie Hoppe, champion of the world at 18.2 balkline billiards, like the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt and the Prince of Wales, has discovered that popularity and greatness have their penalties.

Some time ago the cue wizard suffered from a slightly strained ligament in the right shoulder which made it difficult for him to execute masse shots in the international tournament a year ago.

After the tournament, Hoppe started on a tour of the Middle West giving exhibitions of his skill in the principal cities. Everywhere he went hundreds of billiard enthusiasts who waited to shake hands and congratulate him on securing the world's championship from Jake Schaefer's pretensions in March. Hoppe was in St. Louis when he noticed a return of his old trouble. He wrote a casual letter to R. B. Benjamin, his manager. The latter didn't wait to pack a grip but jumped aboard the first train to St. Louis. There he discovered that Hoppe had been shaking hands from three to four hundred times every day. Benjamin stopped it immediately and put Hoppe in the hands of a doctor and an expert masseur who soon cleared up the trouble. Since then no one has been allowed to shake the champion's hand.

Hoppe's arm has at various times been insured by Lloyds of London for $100,000.

SARAZEN'S GRIP.

Champion Explains Why He Uses Interlocking.

Last winter when Gene Sarazen, America's open and professional golf champion, was touring the Coast, a few critics took it upon themselves to lay his streak of poor playing at the outset of the tour to his use of the interlocking grip.

Grips are a matter of interest to golf enthusiasts at all times. Here in substance is the champion's reply to the critics' attack: "I have never declared that the interlocking grip was the best grip in golf. I do insist, on the other hand, that it is as good as any other and as far as I am concerned, personally, it is one of the most powerful grips I know of. I think that the theory of the interlocking grip has been proven as practical as any by my record this past year. It is a natural grip for me and it is one which old and young can use alike. The fact that some players have found it impractical by no means proves it incorrect. I would like to be shown wherein it is wrong. Also, if my critics can prove that the overlapping grip is better than the interlocking, I would most certainly like to have them."

What could be fairer? Get the heads working, old timers!

GOLF AND EVOLUTION.

$500 More a Year If You Play the Game.

In this age of arch supports, pyorrhea and bald heads those thoughtful people who keep an eye on the future of the race continually bemoan the fact that civilization with its quick lunches and subway jams is gradually eliminating man from the earth.

A remedy for this disintegration is on the horizon, Golf!

First it was a Scotsman's game, then it seeped into America as an old man's game, later working down the scale of years until the colleges took it up and made it a 'varsity sport.

Now it has crept into business and become an investment!

W. A. Alexander, of Chicago, a pioneer of the ancient and honourable game in America, says that an employee who golfs is worth $500 more a year to his concern.

He advocates that employers share the expense of teaching the game to their entire working staffs.

According to Mr. Alexander, golf adds alertness, frankness, refinement, generosity and urbanity to a man.

"RED ROBE" IS COMING TO THE PARK

Depicts France in Heydey of Richelieu, the Great Cardinal

The Cosmopolitan Productions will present their picturization of Stanley Weyman's romance-masterpiece, "Under the Red Robe," at the Park Theatre next Monday.

This picture is a dramatic story of France in the heyday of Richelieu when the great cardinal was the dominating political figure in Europe.

Possessed of the elements that contribute to the making of a perfect photoplay plot, the producers are said to have gone to the furthest extent in making an appropriate and lavish picturization.

Cost was not spared nor effort to preserve historical accuracy in costumes, scenery and customs.

Scenes of regal splendor of the colorful court of Louis XIII provided inspiration for Josef Urban, who designed the scenes and costumes.

A cast of brilliant players was assembled and directed by Alan Crosland. Bayard Veiller made the adaptation and William Frederick Peters composed an original music score.

Among the leading players are Robert Mantell, John Charles Thomas, Alma Rubens, Genevieve Hamper, Rose Coghlan, Ian MacLaren, Mary McLaren, Otto Cruger, Evelyn Gosnell, Gustave von Seyffertitz and Charles Judels.

After the opening performance next Monday night the showings will be given twice daily at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m.

"TOPICS OF 1923" IS GORGEOUS REVUE

Alice Delysia, that lively French comedienne, came back to Boston, in "Topics of 1923," a tremendous new Winter Garden production of music, dance and beauty at the Shubert Theatre.

Miss Delysia, sinuous, daring and with the ability to act, stars in the gorgeous revue, one of the best seen in Boston this season.

Delysia has lost none of her natural charms since she was last seen here. She is a lively comedienne, and has abundant opportunities in this line in the "Topics."

The splendor of the Oriental scene has not been surpassed. The costumes and scenery are beautiful.

Delysia was seen as Queen Elizabeth in the "Be Good Queen Bess" scene, as Antoinette, in the minuette scene, as the diamond beauty in the "Radiant Diamond" scene, as a daughter of the West, and as Princess, in the "Legend of the Woodland" scene.

There are over 100 people in the ensemble, and the cast includes Ethel Shutta, charming soubrette; Billie Shaw, another beautiful dancer; the well liked Herbert Corthell, Bard and Pearl, Barnett Parker, Nat Nazarro, Jr., Frank Green, Allan Prior, Catherine Hayes, Castleton and Mack, and a famous Winter Garden Beauty chorus.

TABLOID MUSICAL COMEDY AT KEITH'S

Plenty of pretty girls and lots of snappy songs, "jazz" and brilliant repartee are the features which make the week's attraction at B. F. Keith's one of the best in a long while.

Heading the attractive bill is the one and inimitable Gus Edwards, presenting his "Revue-sical Comedy" which comprises a galaxy of pretty girls wearing attractive costumes and with an ability to dance. The act, which is a slice of musical comedy, is the most brilliant and colorful attraction seen on the Keith stage this season.

Marcelle and his educated sea lion startled the house by their team work. The intelligence displayed by the amphibian was astounding.

Ray and Emma Dean, in the "Laughing Stock of Vaudeville"; Rae Eleanor Ball and her brother in "Moments Musical"; Abbot and White and Mack and Breen are other attractions which round out the bill.

"ZANDER" AT SOMERVILLE THEATRE

Play in Which Alice Brady Starred Well Played by Stock Company

"Zander the Great," the Salisbury Field comedy in which Alice Brady was seen but a short time ago at the Tremont Theatre, proved an uncommonly enjoyable entertainment as presented by the Somerville Players last night.

Bootleggers have come to form an important part in the scheme of things in this country since Mr. Volstead introduced his little regulation, and bootleggers have a great deal to do with the progress of the action of "Zander the Great."

The story starts when Zander, the little boy in the play is waiting to be taken to an orphan asylum.

Mamie, a former inmate of the place and who has mothered Zander, decides he shall not meet such a fate. She jumps into the family flivver with the youngster, cranks it up, and starts cross-country to find Zander's "Pa."

The expedition comes to an end when Mamie and Zander land in a nest of bootleggers in Southern Arizonia. There events come thick and fast—sheriffs come and go—they try to take the boy away from Mamie and she defends him resolutely.

A strong romance is interwoven and then comes the big surprise twist of the story, which administers a laughing knockout punch right at the final curtain.

Leeta Corder acted with spontaneous naturalness the fiery-tempered but altogether likable Mamie. Bernard Nedell as Dan Murchison, looked and acted the part of the handsome hero-villain, and Frank Thomas was genuinely amusing as the ranch cook of uncompromising melancholy.

Coming Events

"DANGEROUS PEOPLE" CLEVER CROOK PLAY

William Courtenay, who starred in two clever detective productions before going into New York for long runs, believes in cycles of three.

When a highly critical—also highly enthusiastic audience at the Selwyn, last night, insisted on calling the star to the curtain, Mr. Courtenay declared that he is superstitious—that he is certain "Dangerous People" is going to go over big when it reaches New York—but that to make sure of his success he first had to come to Boston, as in his other two big successes.

"Dangerous People" created a decided hit before its initial Hub audience. Theatre-goers remember Mr. Courtenay in "Under Cover," which ran at the Plymouth Theatre for seven months.

In "Dangerous People" the star appears in a role very similar—that of a high-grade, gentlemanly crook.

A pleasing love theme—two of them in fact, and a plot that is sustained throughout are made doubly effective by the excellence of the cast supporting Mr. Courtenay.

George Parson as the hard-working, nature-loving bank cashier, Virginia Hammond as the cashier's wife, Gertrude Hitz as the loving wife of Paul (William Courtenay) and herself a girl with a past, together with Harry Minturn as Teasdale the detective, gave exceedingly clever presentations of their roles.

"ONE KISS" PLEASING COMEDY WITH MUSIC

Charles Dillingham's finest foursome—Oscar Shaw, Louise Groody, Ada Lewis and John E. Hazzard—took on a Parisienne air at the Colonial Theatre last night and lent their weight to "One Kiss," a new comedy with music and a French birth.

This new loan from the French has been adapted by Clare Kummer from "Ta Bouche," which has rather a blushing story, although innocent enough by the time the last curtain falls.

Simply told and reduced to the least common denominator, it is a tale of two sweethearts, possessing not too much cash, who agree to a "compromising" fib in order to force their respective parents — both money-hunters—to allow them to wed. But in the end both lovers find themselves with filled purses, which makes everything all right.

Dillingham's select foursome make of this fluffy theme a laughing entertainment, and Maurice Yvain has enriched it with some excellent musical numbers, affording opportunity for a dozen beautiful girls to disport beautifully in beautiful creations.

"One Kiss" is a good evening's entertainment, but the name really is a misnomer. There are many kisses. As a tribute to the growing popularity of the leading man, it might be called "O. PShaw," though that is rather punny.

COLORED PORTER 'TIPS' STUDENTS AT DARTMOUTH

TELLS HOW HE CAME UP FROM BOTTOM

In Blue Uniform, Expounds His "Gospel" of Success to the Dartmouth Auditors

Hanover, N. H., March 25.—Occupying the same platform with railroad vice presidents, college professors and financiers, John Baptist Ford, colored Pullman porter, today expounded the Gospel of the Pullman Porter to Dartmouth College [illegible] and seniors.

In his [illegible] unabashed by the [illegible] at his right sat T. C. Powell, vice president of the Erie Railroad. Powell told the students of his philosophy of life.

The students bombarded Powell with questions.

How much should a Pullman porter be tipped?" shouted one lusty voiced junior.

"Let your conscience be your guide," was the retort of the porter.

ON LIMITED TRAIN.

Ford's [illegible] on a [illegible] between New York and Washington. He dismissed frankly his treatment of the public and declared that he had as much respect for the man who tipped as the man who did not.

The porter was scheduled to lecture before the students of the Tuck School of Administration and Finance.

Professor Malcolm Keir of the Department of Economics, who rode on Ford's car some weeks ago, was so impressed with the man that he arranged for the lecture.

On the platform with him, in addition to Vice-President Powell, were six high railway executives, Professor William J. Cunningham of Harvard School of Business Administration, David Prates of the National Transportation Institute, and W. [illegible] Bullard, vice president of the Merchants National Bank of Boston.

The porter told of the [illegible] of securing this if the porters is to live. The pay of the jobs ranges from $6 to $80 a month, he said, with few getting the highest figure.

In New York the porters pay from $75 to $80 a month rent for four room apartments while six room apartments cost $125. Ford declared the railroads [illegible] being comfortably housed.

SAVED FOR SCHOOLING.

Honesty was th[illegible] stressed by Ford.

He told of having returned passengers' jewelry and clothing worth thousands which they had left in their berths or seats.

Boy[illegible] better [illegible] to be a good p[illegible]. That is my philosophy [illegible] said.

The colored man told how at the age of seventeen he was fired with ambition to learn to read and write. He was earning $5 a month. He saved until he was able to go to school. Later he became head chef in a school attended by 300 students.

After mastering the rudiments of an education he came North and obtained a place with the Pullman Company.

He named Calvin Coolidge, J. Pierpont Morgan and the Vanderbilts as among the men who had traveled with him.

Several years ago Ford received the commendation of the New Haven officials and a reward when his quick work prevented a serious wreck.

He noticed that the dining car on which he was riding seemed to be bumping over the ties. There was a big embankment on either side and an express was due on an adjoining track.

HE WARMED THE MILK.

When he discovered the diner was off the tracks, he promptly pulled the emergency brake cord and the train was stopped without serious damage.

"More than once I've gone to the front end of the car and heated milk in my water pail for some mother who was vainly trying to get an infant to sleep," he said.

On arriving at Dartmouth Ford was quartered at the fashionable Hanover Inn and was entertained by members of a student political club of Dartmouth.

Ford declares he owed his success to the fact that he put his entire heart and soul into his work and said the students must do the same to succeed.

West End Heat War to Be Fought in Court

FLATS COLD, TENANTS CHARGE

Declare Landlord for the Past Two Weeks Has Neglected to Keep Steam Up

Louis Stern, wealthy West End merchant and landlord, is having lots of trouble with tenants of his big apartment block at Nos. 345 to 353 Charles street.

[illegible] Wednesday [illegible] answer [illegible] complaint [illegible] with failing to furnish sufficient heat. Some of the tenants [illegible] Stern's side in the controversy. Others, a majority of the tenants, are against him and the court hearing bids fair to prove exciting.

Gesticulating women threatened to wreak personal vengeance on the landlord unless he "turned on the steam." The landlord escaped unscathed. Then the tenants swore out the complaint.

For two weeks occupants of the Stern house at No. 351 Charles street allege they have suffered from lack of heat. Not an ounce of warming vapor came through the pipes for the boiler in this house, the tenants assert.

Stern has an explanation. His [illegible] Roosevelt Trailer the young [illegible] "steam maker" [illegible] somebody went down into the [illegible] and by means of a heavy [illegible] put the oil-burning [illegible] out of commission.

The aggrieved women of the Stern block gathered about to say that their wealthy landlord had violated the terms of his own ultimatum and they set [illegible] store [illegible] that ultimatum when the case is heard in court.

Mesdames J. Horwitz, I. Rosenblatt, Moe Krigerman, M. Pallotnik, A. Rhottstein, Minnie Weiner and Sadie Kre[illegible], all tenants, will tell their individual stories of the alleged lack of heat in the Stern house.

Better Telephone Toll Service—

Simpler; Faster; at Minimum Cost

AT your disposal, from Metropolitan Boston, we place an improved telephone toll service

It is given by local operators, and by local operating methods. It is as if we pushed back the boundaries of local operating—pushed them back forty, fifty, sixty miles—a steadily widening area.

In this way you can now reach, from Greater Boston, any telephone in more than a hundred New England cities and towns.

Among them are Worcester and Fitchburg, Brockton and Taunton, Lynn and Salem, Fall River and Providence, Newburyport and Portsmouth, Nashua and Manchester.

You will find the whole list on Page 6, Boston Telephone Directory—together with the charges.

As you know, local operating handles no calls by [illegible]

To enjoy in inter-city service the maximum speed and minimum cost that go with local operating methods, calls must be placed by number.

If you do not know the number, that's no bar. Your local Information knows. Ask her.

Give the number to your own local operator. Hold the line as in a local call.

The older method—calling Toll Operator—is still available. It must be kept open for calls for particular persons, and to more distant points. But as you acquaint yourself with the efficiency and economy of the new plan, you will increasingly enlist it in your service.

The Listener

WDAP, Chicago, must come pretty near holding the record for being heard at points all over the country at the same time. A [illegible] they had recently brought [illegible] from forty-one States [illegible] of Columbia [illegible] the announcer [illegible] for the remaining [illegible] in."

In my opinion, Archibald T. Davidson, professor of music at Harvard, hasn't got a peer as a radio announcer hereabout. He snaps out what he has to say with such clearness, brevity and confidence that you instinctively feel that he is never in danger of stumbling, as many veteran announcers often do. The Harvard Glee Club responds as if a part of him when Professor Davidson leads it. It is said that there isn't a greater authority on music in the country, in spite of his tender years.

One of the best receiving sets in [illegible] Boston has been installed in the Summit Hospital in Brookline and the patients get the cream of good concerts from all parts of the [illegible]. One erstwhile patient recalls the lovely notes of Mary Garden in "Carmen" from Chicago one stormy night not so long ago.

The high moral tone of radio programs is one of its biggest features and [illegible] hoping the standard will never sag. There isn't a cleaner or more wholesome form of entertainment at present. One evil just beginning to peep above the horizon is the danger of overdoing the business of "song plugging."

Radio Queries

I am using the following rheostats on my Super: First tube, UV201A, 60-ohm; detector, UV200, 6-ohm; amplifier tubes, UV201A, 60-ohm for both. Is this correct? H. C.

A 30-ohm would have been enough for the first tube, although the one you have is quite all right. Rest are also O. K.

Can you tell me who was broadcasting a saxaphone solo on Wednesday, March 19, at 7:30? I thought I heard KI from the announcer around 49 meters. Is there a station at Fort Myer, N. C.? Also is there a station that was on the air March 1[illegible] from Brooklyn beside WBR?
E. L. C.

Perhaps another listener knows the first. There is an army station at Fort Bragg, WZG, that is sometimes heard up here, but no Fort Meyer is listed. There is no station listed at Brooklyn. WBBR is in Rossville, although their mail address is Brooklyn.

In answer to A. H. R., the station broadcasting the Vanities was WCX, Detroit. The editor thanks the half-dozen readers who helped on this.

Is the Baby Super a receiving set in itself? In the booklet you describe the way to connect it to another set. R. J. E.

The Baby Super is nothing but a radio-frequency amplifier. It must be used with a detector.

I am building an Erla 3-tube set. I have one Erla audio transformer 6 to 1, and a General Radio, 10 to 1. Can I use the General Radio where the 6 to 1 is recommended, and the 6 to 1 where the 3 to 1 is recommended. There are no marks on the binding posts of the General Radio transformer. E. R.

This will give you more volume, but will be harder to control and will not give as good quality. The post opposite the A minus as you have marked it goes to the B plus, while the fourth post goes to the plate.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions in Boston tonight should be good from all States in the eastern part of the country.

Stations broadcasting from the Middle West and the West will not be heard as well because of the low barometric conditions which exist in the Middle West.

What station did I pick up Friday morning about 2 a. m.? I heard the announcer distinctly say Porto Rico. They were also playing violin music. What is the distance from Porto Rico to Boston?
A. M.

WKAQ, San Juan, P. R., 1890 miles.

Fine feathers do not make fine birds, nor shiny paint a good used car. Boston American mechanics tell you on the "Inspected-Insured" certificate what the mechanical condition is.

QUIETING NOISY BATTERY CHARGES

Battery charges such as the Tungar and Rectigon are not ordinarily noisy, but often the steel cases are set into vibration by the transformer. The result is a loud and very annoying clatter, which is not always eliminated by placing the charger on a cushion or other soft material. It can be stopped by simply pushing wood cross wedges inside the case near the top. This will stiffen the metal, thus suppressing the tendency to vibrate.—W. G. V.

Test "B" Battery With Volt Meter Every Few Days

Every few days the "B" battery voltage across the detector and amplifying circuits should be read by a volt meter. This reading should be taken either during or at the end of a period of use. As a decrease is noted, the wires should be advanced on the battery tops in order to maintain

CHICKIE

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

"I COULD. I think oceans of them. But, just now, I think you ought to let me tell you about this. What good is it that you're a lawyer—a most brilliant young jurist, as it were—if you can't get your best friend——"

"You mean 'my steady.'"

"All right—if you can't get your steady out of a tight pinch."

"He asked you to go out with him already?"

"Of course. And I said I had the whole week taken and I was busy. But he just roared and wanted to know if I'd fallen in love or was going to be married. What could I say?"

"Nothing. We don't want to tell anyone, do we?" She brought the question out shyly. A hundred times already it had been on the point of her tongue. A hundred times, sitting before the bureau combing her hair, she had thought with vague sweetness: "Are we engaged? I wonder if Barry and I are promised to each other?" She couldn't even think these things without a warm, tremendous flush gliding over her. Now her cheeks stirred.

He said, "Well, whose business is it but our own?"

"I know. And, of course, it's a little easier for you. You don't have to ask other girls to go out with you. But if I keep refusing Jake and he doesn't come to the house any more Jonathan will ask questions and Jennie will want to know. You could find me a good alibi, I should think."

Always Making Allusions

"Well—you put Jake off two or three times and he won't bother any more. He's like that." Barry smiled. "Jake's a Casanova in his way. What's one dawdling flower to him when the whole garden runs over with roses only too anxious to be plucked?"

He was always making allusions that she didn't understand. But he thought her clever and a wide reader, so she assumed an air of wisdom. Many an evening before coming home from work she went to the library—to the big general reading-room or perhaps to the delivery desks and open shelves. She pored over the encyclopedias; asked the tall [illegible] girl at the desk questions; gathered happy bits of information that she laced about her conversation with airy nonchalance. Tomorrow she would find out about Casanova, maybe ask Junina or Martha Blake or the good old reliable books.

Tonight she said with a knowing shrug, "Casanova was a wise old owl, wasn't he?" Then, with an aching sigh, "It's terrible to believe that Jake or men do things like that."

"Like what?"

"You know. I don't see how they manage to look so tickled to death with life and be so swaggery if they have all these dark awful things behind them. Do you?"

Her eyes sought his eagerly, wishing him to agree—wishing him to stand forth far apart above those other men. "Do you see that, Barry?"

Hunched Shoulders

"Well, that's the way a blessed damozel looks at things."

"You, too, don't you?"

He hunched his shoulders, grinning, his forehead redder than his hair. "Oh, sure! Ever since the fair one came upon the scene, anyway."

"Meaning me?"

"Meaning you."

She laughed, glad as though song rushed goldenly all through her thoughts.

When he kissed her that night, his arm around her shoulder, he touched her hair, laughing. "Ah, Chickie, you're so sweet."

Her heart was his. She answered, "Barry, I love you so—oh so——"

Not until the door closed after him and she was in the kitchen, Wilde coming with a slow, luxurious yawn from his corner near the stove, did she think of Jake. Nothing had been settled. They had lost count of him in the delicious sweetness of their own warm emotions. Now she thought of him distantly as though he were a long way from her.

He phoned the next morning. "What night is a good night to [illegible], Chickie?"

"I haven't a single night this week."

"That's all right—you've got seven next week."

"But I haven't—really——"

And there came humming over the wires a rich, soft laugh: "I see the way the wind blows, Chickie, my dear. We'll have to try a new tack. Till then, au revoir!"

A thrill of apprehension caught her. Jake was not dismissed. Jonathan was rugged and domineering, straight as a grand redwood again. A broker had come from the Star Oil Refinery and bought up his stock. He had his $1,375 in his hands again.

"And that's a great, fine man, that Mr. Munson," he said, shaking his head to Chickie. "That's a [illegible] for you!"

Tuesday when Chickie reached home she found the table in the dining room laid with Jennie's wedding silver, glasses of [illegible] violets in the center. She cried out, "Hey! Whose birthday is this?"

Jennie in her gray silk dress, lace at the cuffs, though lace was now quite out of date, opened the door and came pattering over to [illegible]

As woman to woman, wouldn't you love to feel that you are just as pretty, that your complexion is just as fresh and irresistible when you rise in the morning as it is after you have completed the most elaborate toilette.

—that your skin, without its make-up, is clear, radiant, glowing?

You can have that assurance. It simply means that your skin must be naturally beautiful, healthy, firm and smooth in texture, rich in color and free from any facial imperfections—in a word, the kind of skin perfection that comes from using Boncilla Beautifier, the Clasmic Pack.

This wonderful, rejuvenating clasmic facial clay brings out your own real, natural beauty. Its gently stimulating action goes to the very depths of the pores, removing facial imperfections instead of covering them up. Literally, Boncilla is a wake-up, not a make-up.

When you remove Boncilla Beautifier, the complexion beauty that you behold is your own glowing, radiant loveliness—permanent and lasting—as dependable in the early morning, after a tiresome day downtown or a busy day in the house, as it is after the most careful toilette.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan

The Unfortunate Young Woman Who Had a Brilliant Salon.

DURING the eighteenth century in Paris, there was an institution called the salon—gatherings something like our formal receptions—which held its place with great importance not only in social affairs, but in those of State. For in the various houses, presided over by prominent ladies of society, many grave political affairs were given direction at these gatherings.

Among these salonists none was more prominent than Julie Lespinasse. And when her origin and unfortunate heritage are considered it is indeed difficult to understand how successfully she overcame her great handicaps and acquired an undisputed position of power in France.

For Julie Lespinasse was a child born without a name. She was the natural daughter of the Countess d'Albon, a woman of noble birth, of Burgundy

The unfortunate baby was desperately loved by her mother and brilliantly educated—but all in secret So, when the Countess died, poor Julie was destitute. This was the first time that Julie knew who she was, because her relatives, immediately after her mother's death, were quick to announce that she was an outcast and that she should expect no help from them.

However, a livelihood was offered to Julie by the legitimate daughter of the Countess, the Marquise de Vichy, and she served for five years in the capacity of governess to her sister's children But these were bitter years for Julie. It was not the humble duties which she was obliged to perform which crushed her young heart, but the attitude of insolent contempt in which her sister held her.

From this miserable existence Julie was rescued by Madame du Deffand, the sister-in-law of the Marquise, who meeting Julie at the chateau and recognizing her brilliant intellect and quiet dignity, invited her to come to Paris and live with her as her companion

This Julie did, and through her residence with Madame du Deffand was thrown into the most dazzling of Paris society, where she came in daily contact with the great of her day. For every afternoon the world met in the salon of Madame du Deffand.

This association lasted for ten years, during which Julie had made the most valuable friends. D'Alembert, the great mathematician, fell in love and wished to marry Julie, but unfortunately she loved another—M de Guilbert, a man who did not appreciate the blind devotion which this remarkable young woman gave to him, but married another. However, Julie loved him during her entire life, and her letters to him, until the very time of her death are tragic and pathetic expressions of her sufferings

Julie left Madame du Deffand's home after an outburst on the part of the elder woman over Julie's popularity—for everyone loved the sweet young woman, whose tact was never failing. But Madame du Deffand brushed this all aside and accused Julie of "stealing her friends" It was then that Julie went to live very modestly by herself But her salon was the most brilliant in Paris

"Happiness and tranquility are not for me except in death" wrote Julie Lespinasse And this estimate was accurate. Her life was unhappy from her birth until her untimely death in the full bloom of young womanhood. But with it all she left behind her a name which not only was loved, but revered and held a place of distinction among the ladies of the French salons who held sway during the period of history when the French court was at its zenith.

Bear Drive Sends American Can Off Over 5 Points From Its Day's Top

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Once upon a time a German lad landed in this country, looking for a job. He went to Chicago and hopelessly applied to a fellow-German, then an important bank executive. The lad wanted to become a banker and had had suitable education. His countryman, however, not only brusquely refused to give him a chance, but told him that nobody else was likely to take him on as he couldn't even speak English readily.

Years passed. The banker had moved to an extremely important position in New York, the youth to a bank in another city. So well had the latter done that the directors in time selected him to take charge of a department. To New York he went to learn how the principal banks there conducted similar departments. At two institutions he received every courtesy, but his fellow-German point-blank refused to show him or tell him everything.

Again, years passed. The big banker found himself on the sidewalk. The young banker had become president of a large institution. Circumstances called for the organization of a new financial institution and the younger banker took charge of the work.

Letter after letter came to him describing the misfortunte which had overtaken his friend, the German banker, and asking him if he could not possibly give him a good job.

That's that.

A bright young American held several different jobs before he was induced to join a powerful financial institution. His earlier bosses in nearly all cases were men of wide influence and unusual importance. One or two of them were some autocratic and dictatorial. I fell a'talking with him the other day, when he told me this:

"The Whirligig of Time plays many pranks. Would you believe that in one year no fewer than three men who once were my bosses came to see me to try to help them to get a position. Each of them was quite a big, important man when I worked for him, whereas I was nobody in particular.

This experience made me think. I don't know that I needed the lesson—I hope I didn't—but it certainly brought home to me the terrible foolishness of putting on airs and adopting a high-and-mighty attitude toward other people, no matter what station of life you may attain. You never can tell when positions and conditions are going to be reversed."

When I first left home at the age of 14, to battle my own way in the world, I had to exist in the cheapest kind of a boarding house. The only meat ever served consisted of what could be scraped from bones bought for a few cents to make soup. A herring was a special treat. My fellow lodgers were—well, their social status was rather shaky.

In this little town was a distant relative, who lived in a clean, comfortable little home. She invited me to visit her of an evening once in a while, and sometimes she would regale me with a drink of ginger pop and perhaps a piece of cake or a cookie. (The taste of these feasts lingers still.)

In the fullness of time, this dear old lady's daughter married and migrated to far-off South Africa. The other day a clean-cut man came to see me and explained that he was the son of the daughter of the old lady. He explained that conditions in South Africa are deplorable and that he had pulled up stakes and used some of his savings to head for this country.

You can judge for yourself, I think, whether or not I feel disposed to do everything within my power to induce some concern to give him a chance to show what he is made of.

A few days ago I was talking with the president of a large corporation, and when references was made to one of the men in his organization, he remarked, "He was my boss when I first went with the company."

* * *

I'm not going to do a single word of moralizing, for I'm sure you can find the moral for yourself.

Yes, "The Whirligig of Time plays many pranks."

More important than what makes a car go is what makes it stop. The brakes of used cars are inspected by skilled mechanics in the American's "Inspected-Insured" service.

HARDWARE SALES ARE SATISFACTORY

"Reports from most of the industrial centers indicate that collections are normal, and that retail sales are satisfactory for this time of the year. Retail sales in suburban sections are somewhat slower, but it is anticipated that they will materially increase with warmer weather," Hardware Age in its weekly summary will say.

ASSOCIATED OIL'S EARNINGS HIGHER

Associated Oil Company and proprietary companies for 1923 report net of $5,950,683 after interest, Federal taxes, depreciation and depletion, equivalent to $10.62 a share on $56,000,000 stock, against $4,190,568 or $10.54 a share on $39,755,724 stock in 1922. Figures for 1923 include Amalgamated Oil Company, not included in 1922 report.

GEN. ELECTRIC OFF 7 FROM ITS HIGH

Omission of the extra dividend on American Can induced a flood of selling orders in that issue and other favorites with the speculators on the New York Stock Exchange. Nearly 100,000 shares of Can had changed hands at noon with the stock off over 5 points from its day's high.

General Electric sold 7 points under its day's high. Baldwin was forced to a new 1924 low, off 3 points, U. S. Steel was down a point. Studebaker was off fractionally after displaying a point gain.

Call money ruled at 3½ per cent.

New bottom prices for the year were registered by Austin Nichols, Texas Gulf Sulphur, American Sumatra Tobacco common and preferred and Stewart Warner Speedometer, the net losses ranging from 1 to 3 points.

Rails also turned heavy, Lackawanna dropping 2¾ and Union Pacific, Wabash preferred A and Atlantic Coast Line about a point each.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange Pacific Mills was a point lower. American Sugar sagged a point. Most local changes were for fractions only with losses ruling. Edison was up a point.

Secretary Mellon feels easy call money rates in New York are due partly to Treasury operations around March 15. It is his opinion that money will be in demand in May and rates might stiffen slightly. He regards present case as purely seasonal.

Secretary Mellon does not believe decline in call money can be attributed to any slack in business.

St. Paul Issues Set New Bon Mart Highs

Strength and activity of St. Paul issues, most of which sold at their highest prices of the year, featured New York bond dealings. St. Paul 4s of 1925 touched 65, up 2, and against a low of 63 last December, while the convertible 4½s advanced 2¾.

Trading was on a fairly broad scale, despite the stiffer call money rate, the principal effect of which was to increase the profit-taking in the U. S. government issues.

Good buying also was noted in the International & Great Northern and Virginia-Carolina Chemical issues. American Chain 6s rose more than 3 points.

Foreign government bonds held steady.

He Never Waited for Top or Bottom in Playing Market

"The most successful speculator I know," a prominent broker says, "had a system which was interesting. His idea was never to seek the bottom of the market to buy—nor did he seek the top in which to sell. 'I always wait until the movement in either direction is definite—that is, when the market is either down or up 15 to 20 points,' he explains. 'Then I knew that a major movement in the trend already definitely indicated was under way. I would place my orders at this time. In other words, I merely waited for the momentum of the movement to show itself and I rode along with it. But before the movement was in its last stages I made it my business to either sell out or buy, as the case may have been. I never waited for either the bottom or the top.'"

BOOM IN AUTOS IS NOW WELL UNDER WAY

Reports Show Big Increase in Output and Purchases Over Last Year

During the past week no further indications of automobile price changes were evident.

Reports show that sales for the first two and a half months of 1924 are heavier than any similar period in the history of the industry.

The Hudson-Essex organization, while proud of the fact that each month shows an increase in production figures over its predecessors, is particularly elated over the fact that dealers' reports show that twice as many Essex cars were sold during the first two months of 1924 as for the corresponding months of 1923.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation, in speaking of conditions in the industry as indicated by the General Motors Corporation, made the following statement:

"Movement of General Motors cars to our dealers during the first quarter will exceed in number the corresponding period last year by 20 per cent.

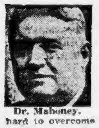
"Movement from dealers and branches to actual consumers, although hard to measure exactly, is at least equal to, and undoubtedly somewhat in excess of, the corresponding period last year."

Officials at Dodge Brothers report an unusual demand for cars. More than 900 cars were shipped on the fifth of this month, which is within a few cars of their high daily shipment report.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY,

Boston Health Commissioner.



Dr. Mahoney.

To the average person, the origin of a wart is surrounded with more or less superstition and mystery.

Coming in contact with a toad is a cause that is foolishly ascribed by many as the origin of the wart. Of course, such a thing is not true, but it is hard to overcome the beliefs of a lifetime.

It is generally accepted that a wart is caused by some sort of germ which inoculates the skin. Warts are contagious, but the germs have to be rubbed into the broken skin, so danger of infection from near contact is unlikely. It must be admitted that the cause of warts has never been definitely proved.

Undercleanliness, bruising and constant irritation of the skin are contributing factors in bringing about warts. Continued moisture from any cause is another thing that prepares the soil for warts.

There are varieties of warts without number. There are flat warts, cauliflower warts, pointed, fig shapes, moist and pigmented warts.

The most common method of ridding one's body of warts is to tie a silk thread about the base of the wart, tightening the string daily until the wart, cut off from its food supply, gradually dies and drops off.

Glacial acetic acid, salicylic acid in collodion, and other caustics will destroy warts, but these should only be applied by a physician, as there is great danger of the surrounding tissues being destroyed if the caustics are improperly applied.

Repeated freezing will kill a wart. Electrolysis, the X-ray and radium are other agencies used successfully to remove them.

There is little danger connected with the average wart, but it is better to consult your own physician before attempting to remove one of the growths yourself. The doctor will have little trouble in removing it.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

My girl, four and one-half years of age, practically lives on cocoa. Once in a while she takes a bite for dinner. How can I make her eat? MRS. P. R.

Am sending you a booklet on the feeding of babies and young children, and also other literature which will probably be of interest to you.

Have been suffering from neurasthenia caused from autointoxication. The doctor says the only thing that will help me is electrical treatment for constipation. As my purse is limited, will have to take treatments night and can't take advantage of cheap day treatment. What doctor would you advise me to see? J. C.

Try the Boston Dispensary, No. 25 Bennett street, Boston, evening clinic, for advice.

Kindly give me the name and address of a good doctor for eczema? J. M. T.

Your family physician can be trusted to refer you to a competent skin specialist.

Would like your advice as to what to do for belching of gas after meals. Am unable to eat breakfast on account of having a dull pain in my stomach. J. H.

I suspect that your trouble is general rather than local, although the beginning of some serious local trouble is also indicated. Your condition is one regarding which your family physician should be consulted.

Please describe the symptoms of a cancer? M. E. S.

It would do you no good to enumerate the symptoms of the condition which you mention. Except in the advanced stage of the disease, the symptoms may not be so very different from the symptoms of other less serious diseases. An article on cancer appeared in this column January 23.

Radio, New Field of Education

Those Interested Are Useful Pioneers, Whether They Work With the Simplest "Crystal Set" or the Most Elaborate and Complicated Ether Searching Apparatus

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Every boy sitting at his radio, LISTENING, trying to pick from the mysterious ether the message that interests him, has in him the possibilities of a future inventor, a future contributor to science.

The discovery of radio's power and putting it within the reach of the entire population, including intelligent boys and girls, is one of the greatest services science has ever rendered to the human race.

Working with the radio, as millions of people young and old are doing, is not merely a new form of AMUSEMENT. It means making of SCIENCE a part of the life of tens of millions, a part of the INTEREST of every American family.

It is said that the remarkable inventive genius of the United States was stimulated by the Civil War. Soldiers, taken from their homes, transported north or south, building bridges, overcoming innumerable difficulties, were compelled to use their minds, COMPELLED to become INVENTORS.

And it has been estimated that the actual result, the actual value of inventions directly resulting from that dreadful war were more than sufficient to pay all the cost of the war—although, of course, nothing could ever pay for the loss of human life.

This field of radio research is another field in which the inventive faculties are stimulated to the utmost, in which science has been made the work and the plaything of millions of people.

It is not possible to exaggerate the value of this new and overwhelmingly sudden field of study, of pleasure, of mental exhilaration.

Fathers and mothers should interest themselves with the younger people, as millions of them do, in this new field. They should encourage their children, and within their means give them the best, the newest apparatus that they can reasonably afford.

No dollar is wasted that is spent on education, and all work with the radio is, in the best sense of the word, TRUE EDUCATION.

The enthusiasm for radio, sweeping over the entire land, is the beginning of a new era of mental activity.

It has caused millions of young and old people to concentrate their minds on a most important and fascinating scientific problem.

It has impelled millions of young men and women to interest themselves in electricity, to understand it, and study it deeply. Who can tell what inventions, what new knowledge of inestimable value, will come from all that concentrated attention on one of the most important problems of the day?

Religion and Heroism

The One Should Inspire the Other

The Right Reverend Herbert Shipman, Suffragan Bishop of New York, said the other day:

> There is too much of this having to be held up to be good, like a baby.
> There is too much of the tendency to softness in religion, the spongy quality that soaks up everything and gives out as little as possible.

The good bishop hit the nail on the head.

Everyone is entitled to his own religion, but no matter what that religion may be, it must finally be tested by its influence upon the backbone.

In other words, the net result of any religion, as far as this world is concerned, is the amount of strength it imparts to the moral inhibitions and to the altruistic enthusiasms.

There are two kinds of pleasure to be derived from religion—the active and the passive.

The passive pleasures are the sensations of comfort, adoration, ecstasy and all the other feelings that the believer gets from listening to music, from hearing sermons, from participating in religious ceremonies and the like.

These have their place. They are worth while in themselves, they are consistent with the dignity of human nature, their influence is refining and civilizing.

But the real test of their value is the extent to which they make a man honest, courageous, just and helpful to his fellow man.

If one's religion does not water the roots of his morality, it is of questionable value. If the deacon's prayers do not prevent him from putting sand in the sugar, the world properly looks upon him with suspicion.

In fact, the very worst thing that can happen to a community is to have the passive elements of religion highly developed while the active elements are feeble.

There are certain heathen faiths, under the influence of which people are intensely fanatical, where their faith and devotion to their gods arise to the point of frenzy, and at the same time they are cruel, unclean and thievish.

Religion will ever be on trial. If it puts iron into men's souls and makes for heroism the world will cling to it, but if it sinks merely to the level of a form of aesthetic self-indulgence the common sense of the world will reject it.

It is quite reasonable for people to spend one day in seven in the intensive cultivation of religion provided that the influence from that day will flow out and tone up the other six; but if that one day is spent in self-indulgence, even if that indulgence is of the highest type, and the other six are in no wise bettered by it, then there is no sensible excuse for the Sabbath.

The pew, in the long run, may say to the pulpit what the pulpit has often said to the pew, "By their fruits Ye shall know them."

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHY ISN'T SHE IN- TERESTING?
Elsie Robinson

WHAT makes women interesting? Mary Garden says that "THE INTERESTING AGE OF WOMEN IS IN THE REGION OF FORTY, OR, AT LEAST, PAST THIRTY. WOMEN DO NOT BECOME INTERESTING UNTIL THEY HAVE TO THINK, UNTIL THEY HAVE TO USE THEIR MINDS." So there you are. But what does Mary mean, anyway? "Women do not become interesting until they have to think!" Yes, but a woman may do a lot of thinking and still be uninteresting. She may think as constantly as a Socrates and still have a mental output containing less than one-half of one per cent. allure. Obviously, then it isn't the QUANTITY, but the QUALITY of a woman's thoughts that makes her interesting or uninteresting. Well, what is the quality of that thought? What do most women think about at twenty, thirty, forty?

About themselves. About love and lovers. About the effect their shapes, complexion, features, clothes and personalities will have upon those possible lovers. Then, having achieved the lover, they think about holding him. About their homes. Possible rivals. Their children. The curtains and cockroaches in the house. The tonsils and tempers in the children. Their neighbors. What Mary said. What Edward did. IN SHORT, THEY THINK ALONG PURELY PERSONAL LINES. This may be interesting to those whom they love, but to the outsider it has little charm. As a consequence, the average woman's magnetism wanes with the passing of her youth, at a time when her husband is establishing his grip on life.

"But," you protest, "men think about themselves, too. Everyone knows what selfish beasts men are!"

Yes, Matilda, everyone does. Just as selfish as women, probably more so. But they're DIFFERENT. Women think personally. Men think impersonally. Women think in terms of the individual because their sheltered life has made them think that way. Men think in terms of the crowd, because their exposed life has made them think that way. If you are directly influenced by the woman her personal viewpoint may be of interest to you; although even then it's apt to bore. You may have no interest in the man himself, yet his thoughts are bound to hold some interest for you, since he is allied with the world as you are allied with it. The man has something to give. The woman has nothing.

That's why life is such a tragedy to women when youth is gone. At sixteen the world smiled at their babblings for the sake of their starry eyes and peach-bloom cheeks. But at thirty-six when they babble the world yawns in their face. Naturally they rebel against a fate which seems to sentence them to obscurity when their youthful prettiness has passed. But stop blaming fate, sisters. Your destiny lies in your own hands, not in fate's. The world liked your pink cheeks once, but the pink has gone. Then wipe your tears and give the world something else it will like if you wish to be liked in return.

Learn the world's language. Study the universal problems. Big, human gossip is quite as interesting as neighborhood gossip once you get the swing of it, and pays far greater dividends. How are you to go about it? Talk shop with your husband. Read books which will kick holes in your horizon. Look for something besides the scandals and funnies in the newspapers. Get out of yourself. Get into the wider experience. Stop rating events by the happiness or sadness they may bring to you personally. Begin to take an interest in the events which bring happiness or sadness to hundreds—millions—all humanity. There's the food for your hunger, sister, and the cure for your discontent.

HAVE SOMETHING OF INTEREST TO GIVE THE WORLD AND THE WORLD WILL COME AFTER YOU, EVEN IF YOUR HAIR BE GRIFFLED AND YOUR FIGURE SCRAMBLED.

Sympathy Aroused

Editor Helping Hand:

Our little girl has outgrown some of her things, and if you will send me a name where there is a little one about one and a half years old I will send them. It is heart-breaking to read some of the letters and to think of the little ones so helpless. There is a bathrobe, pair of shoes, stockings, four dresses, two bonnets, mittens—not much, but it may help some little one to be warm.

MRS. A. W. M.

Thank you. We have sent you the address of Mrs. N. C., whose husband is out of work and who has been sick herself. We don't think she will agree that what you offer is "not much."

Two Suits to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

I have two ladies' suits' size 36, which I would be very glad to give to some needy woman. I also have a child's Spring coat to fit a girl about twelve years old, two dresses, same size, and some underwear, including stockings. I would be glad to send these to some one if you will give me an address. MRS. W. J. C.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of M. P., a young motherless woman who has a little sister twelve years old.

Wants to Finish Quilt

Editor Helping Hand:

I am making a quilt out of pieces that I could not use in my holders, and I have a customer who will pay me for it when finished. Could you ask for some pieces so I may finish it, as I need the money more than any one knows. I have had a hard time all Winter. Both of my grandchildren have had scarlet fever. My little Betty has no clothes to go to school, so I would like to finish my quilt. I could sell all I could make; also all the holders, but I have no pieces. I am sixty-three years old today and cannot go out to do hard work. MRS. M. E. P.

Thrill of Helping

Editor Helping Hand:

In this evening's paper I saw the appeal of Mrs. A. McC. and hasten to get in touch with her. I am exceptionally interested in the war vets and know I can obtain some sort of help for the unfortunate wife. Enclosed find one dollar to forward immediately to her to purchase milk or food. DR. FRANK CRANE ON OUR THREE-HEADED GOVERNMENT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE Senate, during the oil episode, by vote of forty-seven to thirty-four, asked the President to request, immediately the resignation of the Secretary of the Navy from the Cabinet.

The President replied that the dismissal of a member of his Cabinet was exclusively a presidential function, that he assumed the responsibility of the whole matter himself.

Senator La Follette insisted that because a Cabinet member was originally appointed "by and with the consent of the Senate," the Senate could "unconsent."

No authority to withdraw consent is given, under our Constitution, once that consent has been granted. All the Senate can do is to do what it did; express an opinion and make a request to the President.

This separation of the power which requires the law-makers not to interfere with the Executive, and also prevents the Executive from interfering with law-making, is peculiarly American.

There is no such separation in Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Turkey, Canada or the Irish Free State.

In Great Britain, for instance, if the House of Commons passed a resolution, such as our Senate passed, the Cabinet officer would have to go or the premier (Mr. Coolidge) himself would have to resign.

This is what Senator Hiram Johnson meant when he said, "If this were a parliamentary form of government, under existing circumstances a Ministry would fall."

The only way a Cabinet minister can be got rid of, if the President refuses to remove him, is to convict him of "treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors." In this trial the Senate would be the jury and the House would do the trying.

It is well enough to keep these points of law in mind.

The United States of America is not a pure Democracy. That is, it is not a town meeting where matters are decided by a vote of the people or by a vote of the representatives of the people.

It is a Republic. It must operate only through properly delegated officers and strictly in accordance with the terms of its Constitution. This government, as a matter of fact, moves more slowly and with more deliberation than almost any other government.

We give plenty of opportunity for agitation, propaganda and speech making. Newspapers can agitate and law-makers can orate but, when it comes to doing anything, that thing must be done by the regular and often the very slow processes prescribed by law.

This is not altogether a bad thing.

Sometimes we chafe under these conditions and many become impatient. But, in the long run, the sensible people of the country are quite satisfied that no radical measures can actually be brought to pass without full discussion, considerable time and certain prescribed legal methods.

This is a good time for school teachers to make plain to the coming generation our three-headed form of government.

Congress may not execute, for its business is making laws and considering what laws ought to be made and how laws are to be enforced.

The President, and the people under his immediate control, do all the executing. And the making of laws is none of his affair except that he may offer suggestions.

The Supreme Court may not make laws nor execute them; its business is that of an umpire; it is to say whether a law passed by Congress is Constitutional or whether any deed done by the President is in accordance with the Law.

These three branches of government should co-operate; they may not interfere with each other.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON EINSTEIN AGAIN

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

THE Einstein theory is not having as smooth sailing as seemed, at one time, to be assured to it. It has encountered some formidable challenges recently from able mathematicians and physicists, both abroad and in this country.

Among us we have Professor Poor, of Columbia University, who denies both that the planet Mercury obeys the alleged Einstein law, and that the rays from stars passing near the sun are swayed from their path as a consequence of the "Curvature of space."

Whatever bending of the rays may take place, Professor Poor maintains, is explicable by already known physical laws, entirely independent of the Einstein postulates. I believe that Professor William H. Pickering, the astronomer, also finds much to criticise in the attempted application of the Einstein formulas to physical and astronomical phenomena.

And lastly, Captain T. J. J. See, mathematical specialist, and astronomer in charge of the Mare Island Navy Yard Observatory, unqualifiedly contradicts the oft-repeated assertion that the advance of the perihelion of Mercury accords with, and demonstrates, the Einstein theory. On the contrary, he affirms, like Professor Poor, that the calculations of Einstein and his chief supporter, Eddington, are completely erroneous. It is even averred that they "have not properly handled their own formulas!

Captain See likewise defends the "ether," which has done so much service to modern scientific theory, but which the Einsteinists cast aside or ignore. He has, however, his own theory of the constitution of the ether, which may be as good as any other. Oliver Lodge calculated that the ether is millions of times denser than the densest matter. See, on the other hand, regards the ether as incomparably the most tenuous out of all gases. Its unit particles, called "etherons," he estimates to be 4,000 times smaller than electrons, and he calculates their speed—for they are always in motion—at 294,000 miles per second. This is 108,000 miles per second faster than the speed of light.

When able mathematicians and physicians differ so widely the reason is only because they are not walking on the solid ground of ascertained fact, but are floating:

"Like little wanton boys that swim on bladders,
This many summers, in a sea
of"—theory.

And yet they all seek, on all sides, for facts to rest upon, knowing that, in the end, their theories can never stand, in this world, against results of actual experience. That is why, from the very start, Einstein has sought eagerly for corroboration of his theory from known measurable facts, such as the peculiar motion of Mercury's perihelion, and the apparent shifting of the location of stars seen nearly in line with the hidden sun during an eclipse.

He has been able to find only two or three more or less doubtful confirmations of this kind, or at least confirmations concerning which experts do not agree, and that is why his theory really has, as yet, no standing, except in the field of abstract mathematics. By basing itself on an imaginary system of geometry, which has no validity in actual experience, the Einstein theory differs diametrically from Newton's theory of gravitation, which while not undertaking to explain the ultimate nature of gravitation, founds an explanation of its working entirely upon observed facts, and in accordance with the only geometry that human experience gives us any knowledge of.
